

Care

Autonomy

Safety

Justice

Privacy

Participation

Self-conception

Stage I: Its use is completely harmless from an ethical viewpoint

---

Stage II: Its use is ethically sensitive but this can in practise be compensated for

---

Stage III: Its use is ethically extremely sensitive and requires either permanent monitoring or its introduction should be questioned

---

Stage IV: Its use should be opposed from an ethical viewpoint

Social Level

Organisational Level

Individual Level

