13 June 2014	World Health Organization (WHO), United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat)	1. UNEP/WHO/ UN-Habitat	Letter of agreement between WHO, UN-Habitat and UNEP on post-2015 global monitoring for wastewater and water quality management (WMQM) and water resources management (WRM)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The letter of agreement was signed on 13 June 2014, with a duration of one year. - The main objective of the letter of agreement was to provide a global monitoring mechanism to track progress for the entire water sector in order to achieve sustainable water management. - As per the letter of agreement, the parties agreed to cooperate with respect to the harmonization of water sector mechanisms for water, sanitation and hygiene (WaSH), WMQM, and WRM, establishment and maintenance of a global monitoring mechanism for WWQM and WRM, which tracks progress on global post-2015 targets, and to ultimately extend this monitoring mechanism to cover analysis of inputs and enabling environmental factors that influence progress. - The letter of agreement outlines the operational framework for collaboration between the parties through a coherent monitoring framework for post-2015 water targets. The main objective of the framework is to provide credible data and analysis on the status of the water sector to Member States who will make use of the data to achieve sustainable water management.
24 September 2014	Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO)	2. UNEP/FAO	MOU between FAO and UNEP	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The MOU was signed on 24 September 2014 and is valid for an initial period of 5 years, after which it may be renewed for a further period of 5 years by written agreement between the parties. - Through this MOU, UNEP and FAO acknowledged their collaborative relationship pursuant to an MOU concluded on 13 July 1977. - As per the MOU, UNEP and FAO agreed to collaborate with regard to the following priority thematic areas: sustainable food systems, ecosystem services and biodiversity in agriculture, forestry and fisheries, data and statistics, international legal instruments, and legislation and regulatory matters. - The MOU includes an annex, which provides details on the priority areas for strategic collaboration based on the FAO vision and global goals, and the UNEP medium-term strategy. The annex also provides information on each thematic area and the outputs to be expected from the collaboration between the parties. - According to the MOU, the activities, specific objectives, outcomes, respective roles and responsibilities, and the institutional/operational matters to be carried out under each thematic area are to be set out in a strategic partnership plan. The strategic partnership plan is meant to be a non-binding strategic document which will be monitored and revised on an ongoing basis under the consultative mechanism established under the MOU.
