

2023 Financial Disclosure Information Packet for President John Williams

Attached is the 2023 Financial Disclosure Information Packet for John Williams, President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York (“New York Fed” or “Bank”). This information packet contains Mr. Williams’ annual disclosure form for 2023 and related materials. No waivers were issued to Mr. Williams in 2023.

Mr. Williams’ 2023 Financial Disclosure Report. The New York Fed has a robust financial disclosure reporting regime which obligates most Bank employees to file on an annual basis one of four disclosure forms. These forms require the employee to disclose information about assets, liabilities, outside activities, gifts received, and other circumstances that might constitute an actual or apparent conflict of interest.

The New York Fed’s president completes the Federal Reserve Bank Financial Disclosure Report (Form A), which requires the most extensive level of personal financial disclosure of any Federal Reserve Bank disclosure report. The 2023 annual disclosure form is an updated Form A, which has minor differences from the reporting requirements in prior years, as noted in the Detailed Instructions at the end of the document. As in past years, the president is required to disclose all assets and financial transactions over $1,000 and give their approximate value by denoting the dollar range for each. Form A also requires disclosure of gifts received, liabilities, any agreements or arrangements for future employment or payment, outside activities, and other situations that might constitute an actual or apparent conflict of interest. Note that this report also includes assets held by the spouse of the president, which are labeled accordingly.

The president’s financial disclosure reports are extensively reviewed for potential or actual conflicts of interest and compliance with applicable laws and policies. Reviews are conducted by the Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer of the Bank and the Board of Governors’ Designated Agency Ethics Official. If legal issues are raised, the Bank’s General Counsel may also be asked to opine.

The Bank’s Rules related to Conflicts of Interests. Mr. Williams is subject to a number of policies related to his financial holdings and conflicts of interests. These policies are set forth in the Bank’s Code of Conduct, the Federal Reserve’s Guide to Conduct for Senior Officials and the Investment and Trading Policy for FOMC Officials.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIALS

2023 Transactions: President Williams reports pre-authorized automatic payroll contributions by his spouse to her retirement account. Following the pre-authorized, automatic schedule, four of these transactions (Feb. 1, May 1, Nov. 1, and Dec. 4) of Vanguard Institutional Target Date Retirement 2030 Fund happened to fall during FOMC blackout periods. Given the pre-authorized and automatic nature of the trades, there is no violation of the blackout period or any other FOMC-related trading policies.

Falsification of information or failure to file or report information required to be reported may subject you to disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Who Must File?

- President
- FRBNY First Vice President
- Any officer authorized to vote at an FOMC meeting

New Filers: Complete promptly upon request of your Ethics Officer, but no later than 30 days after assuming a covered position.

Annual Filers: No later than May 15 annually.

Separation Filers: Complete within 30 days of the date that you no longer hold a position that requires the filing of this report ("covered position"). The reporting period begins on the end of the period covered by your previous filings and ends on the date that you no longer hold a covered position.

Where to File

With the Reserve Bank's Ethics Officer, or that person's delegee, at the Bank.

Scope of Disclosure

The extent of the reporting requirement is noted in each Part.

In addition to your individual financial information, you are required to report information concerning your spouse, domestic partner, and dependent children in several Parts of the Form A, and information regarding positions held by other individuals (your spouse, domestic partner, child, parent or sibling) in Part 1 of the form. However, no report is required with respect to your spouse or domestic partner if they are living separate and apart from you with the intention of terminating the marriage or providing for permanent separation.

There are other exceptions to the reporting of assets and income, transactions, and liabilities of a spouse, domestic partner, or dependent child, which are discussed in the instructions applicable to those subjects.

A basic premise of the financial disclosure requirements is that those having responsibility for review of reports filed must be given sufficient information by reporting individuals concerning the nature of their outside interests and activities so that an informed judgment can be made with respect to compliance with applicable conflict of interest laws and standards of conduct. Therefore, it is important that you carefully complete all required Parts of the Form A. This report is a safeguard for you as well as the Federal Reserve System, in that it provides a mechanism for determining actual or potential conflicts between your responsibilities as a Bank employee and your private interests and activities and allows you and the Bank to fashion appropriate protections against such conflicts when they first appear.

If, after reviewing your Form A, the Ethics Officer concludes that they need additional information from you, you will be so advised and are required to provide the requested information.
