3. Definitions

Diversity refers to the range of differences and unique characteristics present among individuals within a group or organization. It encompasses recognizing, respecting, and valuing the multitude of individual and social differences that contribute to the identity of our global employees, including demographics, backgrounds, perspectives, and experiences.

Equity involves ensuring impartiality and fair treatment, providing equal access to opportunities for all team members according to their needs. It requires promoting fairness within procedures, processes, and resource distribution by institutions or systems.

Inclusion is intentionally cultivating a culture where every individual feels valued, respected, and empowered to contribute. It involves actively creating an environment where all individuals, regardless of their background or characteristics, have access to resources and opportunities.

4. Discrimination, Harassment, and Bullying

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion are fundamental principles at Teleperformance. Discrimination, whether direct or indirect, is strictly prohibited and encompasses any distinction between individuals based on protected characteristics, such as ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, or other factors, which results in unfair treatment, limitation, segregation, or deprivation of employment opportunities.

Teleperformance provides equal opportunities for employment, basing decisions on merit, qualifications, skills, performance, and achievements. We do not tolerate discrimination against any employee or applicant for employment based on non-work-related personal characteristics, such as race, ethnicity, religious beliefs, pregnancy (including childbirth or related medical conditions, as well as breastfeeding needs), gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, transgender status, national origin, ethnic origin or background, social origin, family or marital status, age, disability (physical or mental), medical condition, genetic information, veteran’s status or military service, or union membership or union activity.

We also provide reasonable accommodation to qualified individuals with disabilities, as well as individuals with needs related to their religious observance or practice. At Teleperformance, we uphold a zero-tolerance policy towards harassment, bullying, or any conduct that could lead to harassment in the workplace. This includes conduct by managers, supervisors, co-workers, and non-employees with whom our employees have a business, service, or professional relationship. Our commitment extends beyond the workplace, encompassing conduct that takes place off Company premises (including on social media) if it could reasonably impact employees or others within our workplace.
