

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction 1

I SHIFTING VISIONS OF SOCIOLOGY

- 1 The Boundaries and Subject Matter of Sociology
(Translated by Lawrence T. Nichols) 59
- 2 Some Contrasts between European and American
Sociology 71
- 3 Sociology as a Science 79
- 4 Conclusion: Retrospect and Prospect 88
- 5 Declaration of Independence of the Social Sciences 93
- 6 Referential Principles of Integralist Sociology 104
- 7 Sociology of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow 115

II EARLY WORK

Reflections from the Russian Period

(Translations by Lawrence T. Nichols)

- 8 L. N. Tolstoy as a Philosopher 133
- 9 Notes from a Sociologist: At the Crossroads 151
- 10 Notes from a Sociologist: Delay 153

Early Empirical Studies

- 11 An Experimental Study of Efficiency of Work under Various Specified Conditions (with Mamie Tanquist, Mildred Parten, and Mrs. C. C. Zimmerman) 157
- 12 Social Mobility 174
- 13 The Future of the Rural and Urban Worlds 183

III THEORETICAL FRAMEWORKS

Social Space and Time

- 14 Social Time: A Methodological and Functional Analysis
(with Robert K. Merton) 193
- 15 Social Space, Social Distance, and Social Position 206

Social and Cultural Systems

- 16 Ideational, Sensate, Idealistic, and Mixed Systems of Culture 215
- 17 Principle of Immanent Change of Sociocultural Systems and Congeries 237

IV GLOBAL CONFLICT AND SOCIAL RESOLUTION

War and Revolution

- 18 The Perversion of Human Behavior in Revolution 257
- 19 The Cause and Factors of War and Peace 265
- 20 The Conditions and Prospects for a World without War 279

Love, Altruism, and Social Reconstruction

- 21 Sociology and Ethics 295
- 22 Amitology as an Applied Science of Amity and Unselfish
Love 302
- 23 Studies of the Harvard Research Center in Creative
Altruism 305

Selected Publications by and about Pitirim A.

Sorokin 317

Index 321