

w r i t e r s
UNDER SIEGE

CZECH LITERATURE
SINCE 1945

JIŘÍ HOLÝ

sussex
ACADEMIC PRESS

BRIGHTON • PORTLAND

CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgments	viii
THE DEVELOPMENT OF CZECH LITERATURE	1
THE FORTIES AND FIFTIES	6
From May to February	7
1. Reverberations of War	7
2. The Testimony of Poetry	9
3. The Politico-Cultural Debate	11
4. The War Generation	13
5. Prose	17
The Bleak Years	19
1. Stalinism	19
2. Literature in the Grip of Dogmatism	23
3. Exile	25
4. Underground Literature	27
5. Signs of the Thaw	34
The Thaw	41
1. The Decline of Stalinism	41
2. Poetry	43
3. Drama and the Theatre	48
4. Prose	50
THE SIXTIES	56
Between Dogmatism and Reformism	57
1. The Rise of Criticism	57
2. Freedom of Expression	58
3. Politico-Cultural Polemics	62

A Happy Era in Literature	68
1. Poetry	68
2. Changes in Prose	76
3. Novels of Disillusionment	81
4. Literary Criticism	88
The Sixties Generation	91
1. The Development of the Younger Generation	91
2. Poetry	94
3. Drama and the Theatre, Prose	98
4. Singers and Songwriters	104
The Experimental Era	107
1. Poetry	107
2. Prose	111
Nineteen Sixty-Eight	115
1. Writers in Conflict with the Communist Party	115
2. "The Prague Spring"	118
3. Defeat of the Reformers	122
THE SEVENTIES AND EIGHTIES	130
Normalization	131
1. Restoring "Order"	131
2. Literature Divided	135
The Three Worlds of Literature	138
1. Literature Published in Czechoslovakia	138
2. A Grey Area	143
3. The Creation of Samizdat	148
4. Samizdat Literature	154
5. Literature in Exile	165
6. Drama and the Theatre	173
7. Literary Criticism	178
The Eighties Generation and Postmodernism	181
1. The Eighties Generation	181
2. Prose and Postmodernism	183

3. Drama and the Theatre	191
4. Poets and Songwriters	194
THE NINETIES AND THE EARLY TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY	198
Literary Life without Barriers	199
1. Change of Function	199
2. Poetry	206
3. Prose	213
CONCLUSION: Lines of Development	219
PROFILES OF THE MOST IMPORTANT CZECH WRITERS SINCE 1945	222
ANTHOLOGIES OF CZECH POSTWAR LITERATURE IN ENGLISH	288
NOTES	293
BIBLIOGRAPHY	313
INDEX	324