

CONTENTS

Editor's Note	viii
List of Contents	ix
List of Illustrations	xiii
Foreword	xy
Preface	xvii
Acknowledgements	xix
Map of the Iberian Peninsula	xx
Map of the Principality of Catalonia	xxi

PART ONE: THE NARRATIVE

1. The King	Pere's interest in astronomy	1
	Pere as ruler and warrior	3
	Pere's later horological interests	4
	Joan's interest in horology	7
2. The Clock	Construction of the forges for the clockmaker	9
	Arrival of the first clocksmiths	10
	Arrival of Bonelli, the clockmaker	12
	Forging the ironwork	13
	Wooden patterns for "cast" iron or wrought iron	13
	Finishing the movement	15
	Charcoal for the clock and the bell	16
	Charcoal for the bell	18
3. The Bell	Making the mould	19
	Materials used for moulding	20
	Mixing the moulding clay	21
	The false, or dummy, bell	22
	Inscription on the bell	23
	Baking the mould	23
	Removal of the mould to casting-pit	24
	The casting pit	25
	The quest for metal	26
	The Black Prince	27
	Toulouse and Montpellier	27
	Transportation to Perpignan	28
	The furnace	29
	25 August, the day the bell was cast	30
	Removal of bell from casting pit	33
4. The Tower	Identification of the tower	35
	Mechanism devised by Bonelli	35
	The cabrelles	35
	The crane	36
	Construction work on the tower	37
	The bell frame	39
	The quest for timber	39

CONTENTS — continued

4. The Tower (continued)	Work on the tower 40	40
	Work on the bell frame 41	41
	Construction of the clock room 41	41
	Hoisting up the bell and clock 42	42
	Installing the clock 44	44
	The weights. 45	45
	Further work on the bell frame and bearings ... 45	45
	Ringing the bell. 47	47
	Final work on the weights 47	47
	Regulating the timing and the striking of the clock 47	47
	Auction of surplus materials 49	49
5. Subsequent History of Clock	Manual striking of the hours 51	51
	Spanish tower clocks 53	53
	Possible fate of the Perpignan clock 54	54
	Illustrations 57	57

PART TWO : THE MANUSCRIPT

6. The Manuscript	The manuscript account book 77	77
	Watermarks 77	77
	The labour force. 79	79
	Ramon Sanç — Controller of works 80	80
	Anthoni Bonelli — Clockmaker 80	80
	Jacme Sotz — Bellfounder 81	81
	Ramon Pentiner — Freeman 82	82
	How Ramon Sanç kept his accounts 82	82
	Names mentioned in the account book of Ramon Sanç 85	85
	Anthoni Bonelli's receipt for goods supplied up to 27 August 1356. 94	94
	Letters written in Latin on 18 September 1356 (With English translation). 96	96
	Timing a clock. Written in Latin with English translation 97	97
	Bibliography 99	99
	Additional Bibliography. 100	100
	Classification subheads of the accounts 101	101
7. The Folios	The folio facsimiles and English translations ... 102	102
	Queries about the accounts of Ramon Sanç 379	379

Appendices

Key to Mechanism of the Salisbury Cathedral Clock	383
A Fourteenth Century Tower Clock	385
Glossary of Horological Terms	393
Table of Catalan measures and weights	398

Indexes

NAME Index to Folios	401
SUBJECT Index to Folios	415