

CONTENTS

List of Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction Katarzyna J. Cwiertka	1
1 Eating Hong Kong's Way Out Cheng Sea-ling	16
2 Acceptance of milk products in Southeast Asia: the case of Indonesia as a traditional non-dairying region Adel P Den Hartog	34
3 Food in middle-class Madras households from the 1970s to the 1990s Pat Caplan	46
4 Ladies who lunch: young women and the domestic fallacy in Japan Merry I. White	63
5 Wild-gathered foods as countercurrents to dietary globalisation in South Korea Robert W. Pemberton	76
6 Bardot soup and Confucians' meat: food and Korean identity in global context Boudewijn C.A. Walraven	95
7 Family hospitality and ethnic tradition among South Asian women in the west of Scotland Helen Bush and Rory Williams	116

CONTENTS

8	Eating the homeland: Japanese expatriates in The Netherlands Katarzyna J. Cwierka	133
9	Chinese and Indonesian restaurants and the taste for exotic food in The Netherlands: a global-local trend Anneke H. Van Otterloo	153
	Warm mushroom sushi? An afterword Boudewijn C.A. Walraven	167
	References	174
	List of Contributors	186
	Index	188