

Contents

|   |   |     |
|---|---|-----|
|   | Notes on contributors  | vii |
| 1 | Introduction: the Iraq War and democratic politicsJOHN MACMILLAN  | 1   |
| 2 | The global setting: US foreign policy and the futureof the Middle EastRICHARD FALK  | 20  |
| 3 | Bush's war: the Iraq conflict and American democracyJOHN DUMBRELL   | 35  |
| 4 | The neo-cons: neo-conservative thinking since the onsetof the Iraq WarDAN PLESCH  | 47  |
| 5 | The United KingdomDAN KEOHANE   | 59  |
| 6 | The European dimensionJOHN VOGLER   | 77  |
| 7 | Turkey: democratic legitimacyCHRISTOPHER BREWIN   | 96  |
| 8 | 'It seemed the best thing to be up and go!': on the legal casefor invading IraqPATRICK THORXBERRY                         | 114 |
| 9 | The transition to democracy in Iraq: historical legacies,resurgent identities and reactionary tendenciesGARETH STAXSFIELD | 134 |

vi Contents

|    |  |     |
|----|--|-----|
| 10 | The democratic transition in Iraq and the discovery of its limitationsGLEN RANGWALA                  | 160 |
| 11 | Iraq, political reconstruction and liberal theoryJOHN HORTON AND YOKE-LIAN LEE                       | 181 |
| 12 | Afghanistan and Iraq: failed states, or democracy on hold?IFTIKHAR H. MALIK                          | 201 |
| 13 | The Iraq Body Count project: civil society and the democratic deficitJOHN SLOBODA AND HAMIT DARDAGAN | 219 |
| 14 | Story development, or, Walter Mitty the UndefeatedALEX DANCHEV                                       | 238 |
|    | Index   | 260 |