

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| List of Images | xi |
| Introduction: Theorizing State Agents | 1 |
| 0.1 Sovereignty, State Agents, and Practices of Governance | 1 |
| 0.2 The State and Public Sphere | 18 |
| 0.3 Stateless Persons and Nonstate Agents in the Law of Nations | 23 |
| 0.4 Outline of Individual Chapters | 36 |
| 1. The Information Economy of Early Modern Travel Writing | 40 |
| 1.1 Irregular Travelers: Intelligence Networks and Travel Advice Literature | 40 |
| 1.2 The Narrative Accounting of Fynes Moryson's Itinerary | 58 |
| 1.3 Thomas Coryat: Sociability, Labor, and the Market Speed of Print | 75 |
| 2. The Mercenary State: English Soldiers in the Dutch Revolt | 94 |
| 2.1 Early Modern England's Forgotten Wars | 94 |
| 2.2 George Gascoigne, Literary Mercenary | 99 |
| 2.3 Delegation, Expertise, and the Extraterritorial Economies of War | 123 |
| 2.4 Foreign Service and Domestic Households: Rycote and Penshurst | 141 |
| 2.5 1596: Bringing the War Back Home | 154 |
| 3. Friends and Enemies in the Global History of Diplomacy | 164 |
| 3.1 The Ambassador's Household: Sir Henry Wotton, Domesticity, and Diplomatic Writing | 166 |
| 3.2 Catholic Exiles and the English State After the Gunpowder Plot | 188 |
| 3.3 Lines of Amity: The Law of Nations in the Americas | 200 |
| Afterword: The Cosmopolitical Bureau | 223 |
| Bibliography | 231 |
| Index | 261 |