

Foreword	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	xiii
Tadhg Foley and Maureen O'Connor
Part I: Nineteenth Century
1 India and the translation of the Irish Brehon Laws Heather Laird	3
2 Ireland, India and popular nationalism in the early nineteenth century Sedn Ryder	12
3 A new religion? Literary study and elementary education in India and Ireland in the nineteenth century Ciilin Parsons	26
Part II: Nivedita/Cousins
4 Political activism and the politics of spirituality: The layered identities of Sister Nivedita/Margaret Noble (1867-1911) Maina Singh	39
5 Friable transnationalism: The question of the South African Gandhi and the Irish Nivedita EllekeBoehmer	58
6 James Cousins and his nation of free slaves Selina Guinness	68
7 'Where East and West are one': James Cousins and postcolonial aesthetics Joseph Lennon	81

Part III: Religion

- 8 Interactions from the periphery: Some Irish religious minorities and India, c.1850-1923 97
G.K. Peatling
- 9 Shades of difference: Towards an analysis of the spatial ideologies of the Orange and Saffron Orders in Northern Ireland and India 109
Chandana Mathur
- 10 An Irish missionary in India: Thomas Gavan Duffy and The Catechist of Kil-Arni 117
Fiona Bateman

Part IV: Literature

- 11 Monstrous hybridity: Kim of the 'Eye-rishti' and the Survey of India 131
Nessa Cronin
- 12 'Banyan riot of dialectic': Louis MacNeice's India 140
Kit Fryatt
- 13 Legendary pasts and the uncanny orient: Yeats and India 153
Malcolm Sen

Part V: Civil Servants and Administrators

- 14 Victorian ideologies of improvement: Sir Charles Trevelyan in India and Ireland 167
Ciara Boylan
- 15 An uncommon under-secretary: Sir Antony MacDonnell, India and Ireland 179
M.L BriUman
- 16 Living with empire: Maurice Collis, Anglo-Irish Indian civil servant, on national aspirations in Ireland and India 189
Steve Demi and Lisa Jadxvin
- 17 A rough guide to the British Empire: Charles, Lord Cornwallis and his years in America, India and Ireland 200
Dermot Dix
- 18 Crooke, Grierson and the Indian peasant: The 'Grierson cottage' in Gola-Gopalpur village, Gorakhpur district 214
Sadhana Naithani

Part VI: Nationalisms

- 19 Ireland, India and empire: Indo-Irish separatist political links and perceived threats to the British Empire
Kate O'Malley 225
- 20 Sinn Féin and the Gadar Party in the Indo-German conspiracy of the First World War
Matthew Erin Plowman 233
- 21 '315 million of India with Ireland to the lasf: Irish and Indian nationalists in North America
Michael Silvesbi 244
- 22 Elite construction of identity: Comparing Nehru and de Valera as national founders
Timothy J. White 256
- 23 'Ireland a warning to India': Anti-imperialist solidarity in the Irish Free State
CaoilfhUmn NiBheaehdin 268
- 24 Publish or perish: The rote of the native press in promoting national identity in Ireland and India
Susan Rosenkranz 279
- Biographical Notes on Contributors 291
- Index 297