

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
List of Contributors	ix
List of Figures and Tables	xiii
Introduction: Venal Bodies – Prostitutes and Eighteenth-Century Culture – Markman Ellis and Ann Lewis	1
Part I: (Auto)Biographical and Classificatory Fictions: Madams, Courtesans, Whores
1 Classifying the Prostitute in Eighteenth-Century France – Ann Lewis	17
2 In Her Own Words: An Eighteenth-Century Madam Tells Her Story – Kathryn Norberg	33
3 ‘All the World Knows Her Storie’: Aphra Behn and the Duchess of Mazarin – Claudine van Hensbergen	45
4 Marie Petit’s Persian Adventure (1705–8): The Eastward Travels of a French ‘Concubine’ – Katherine MacDonald	59
5 ‘A First-Rate Whore’: Prostitution and Empowerment in the Early Eighteenth Century – Lena Olsson	71
Part II: Visibility and Theatricality: Fiction, Image and Performance
6 Prostitutes and Erotic Performances in Eighteenth-Century Paris – Thomas Wynn	87
7 Visible Prostitutes: Mandeville, Hogarth and ‘A Harlot’s Progress’ – Charlotte Grant	99
8 The Narrative Sources of Candide ’s Paquette – Edward Langille	115
9 The Prostitute as Neo-Manager: Sade’s Juliette and the New Spirit of Capitalism – Olivier Delers	127
Part III: The Magdalen House: Marriage, Motherhood, Social Reintegration
10 Figuring the London Magdalen House: Mercantilist Hospital, Sentimental Asylum or Proto-Evangelical Penitentiary? – Mary Peace	141
11 Mothers and Others: Sexuality and Maternity in The Histories of Some of The Penitents in the Magdalen-House (1760) – Jennie Batchelor	157

Part IV: Wider Perspectives: Constructing the Prostitute in Social History
12	Making a Living by 'Indecency': Life Stories of Prostitutes in Christiania, Norway – Johanne Bergkvist	171
13	Male Prostitution and the Emergence of the Modern Sexual System: Eighteenth-Century London – Randolph Trumbach	185
	Notes	203
	Index	241