

Contents

List of Figures

vii

Introduction

1

KATHARINA BOEHM, ANNA FARKAS, AND ANNE-JULIA ZWIERLEIN

PART I

Science, Social Reform, and the Aging Body

- 1 A Respectful Challenge to the Nineteenth Century's View of Itself: An Argument for the Early Modern Medicalization of Old Age 21
LYNN A. BOTELHO
- 2 "Exhausting the Powers of Life": Aging, Energy, and Productivity in Nineteenth-Century Scientific and Literary Discourses 38
ANNE-JULIA ZWIERLEIN
- 3 Gender Perspectives on the Elderly in Town and Countryside in Victorian England 57
NIGEL GOOSE
- 4 The Unnatural Youth of the Old "New Woman" 75
TERESA MANGUM

PART II

Intergenerational Exchanges

- 5 Transatlanticism and the Old Indian: Old Age and Cross-Racial Mentorship in Narratives of National Belonging 95
KATHARINA BOEHM

- 6 Freedom of Testation in Victorian England 115
REBECCA PROBERT
- 7 "Senile" Sexuality 132
KAREN CHASE
- 8 "Are You Learning to Grow Old?": "Aging Well" with the Help of The Girl's Own Paper, 1880 to 1900 147
JOCHEN PETZOLD

PART III

Transformations and Appropriations of Victorian Old Age

- 9 Inventing the "Aging" Shakespeare in the Nineteenth Century: A Counterfactual Reading 167
GORDON MCMULLAN
- 10 Active Aging in the Community: Laughing at/Thinking about Victorian Senescence in Arnold Bennett's
The Old Wives' Tale and Its Theatrical Afterlife 181
DAVID AMIGONI
- 11 Old Age and the Great War: J. M. Barrie's
Plays about the British Home Front 197
ANNA FARKAS
- 12 The Double Standard of Aging:
On Missing Stendhal in England 210
HELEN SMALL
- Epilogue 232
PAT THANE

Contributors 247

Index 251