

Contents

Introduction	I
PART ONE THE DISTINCTIVENESS OF PLURALISM
1. The Structure of Pluralist Arguments	9
1.1 Pluralism as Ideal	11
1.2 Meta-ethical Pluralism: The Model of the Argument	13
1.3 Political Pluralism: Conflict over Sovereignty	17
1.4 Legal Pluralism: Conflicts of Legality	25
1.5 Pluralism Across the Domains of Practical Reason	28
2. The Inadequacy of Multiculturalism	31
2.1 The Multicultural Paradigm	34
2.2 What Pluralism is Not About	38
2.3 Pluralism, Multiculturalism, and Justice	41
2.4 Political Pluralism and Jurisdictional Competition	46
3. The Incompatibility of Subsidiarity	56
3.1 Before Subsidiarity	57
3.2 The Principle of Subsidiarity	64
3.3 A Word on the European Union	73
4. Associative Democracy and the Corporatist Temptation	81
4.1 Cohen and Rogers on Associative Democracy	83
4.2 Hirst on Associative Democracy	86
4.3 Neither Corporatism nor Syndicalism	92
PART TWO THE CONSTITUTIONAL THEORY OF PLURALISM
5. Two Conceptions of Sovereignty	101
5.1 The Idea of Sovereignty	101
5.2 Early Modern Sovereignty	105
5.3 Medieval Sovereignty	110
5.4 The Limits of Medieval Constitutionalism	113
6. A Positivist Pluralism?	118
6.1 The Roots of Antipathy Towards Positivism	120
6.2 The Fallacies of the Critique of Legal Positivism	125

7. Law as Intelligibility	137
7.1 Law as Institutionality	139
7.2 A Non-essentialist Concept of Law?	143
7.3 Intelligibility as a Criterion of Legality	150
7.4 Law before Law	153
8. Pluralist Authority	161
8.1 The Tradition of Political Pluralism	162
8.2 An Account of Authority	168
8.3 Reconsidering the Authority of the State	174
8.4 The Intractability of Conflict	175
 PART THREE THE PERSONALITY OF ASSOCIATIONS
9. This Unity of Life and Action	183
9.1 The Birth of the Pluralist Theory of Group Personality	183
9.2 The Death of Real Personality	191
9.3 The Contemporary Resurrection of Group Personality	195
10. The Personality of Associations	199
10.1 The Argument Against Real Personality	200
10.2 The Importance of Group Personality	203
10.3 Supervenience and Group Personality	207
10.4 Two Kinds of Legal Personality	215
10.5 From Group Agency to Group Personality	221
11. Property, Personality, and Public Justification	227
11.1 Property and Personality	228
11.2 Hegel on Abstract Right	230
11.3 Property and Public Justification	234
 CONCLUSION
12. The Spectre of Intractability	243
Bibliography	251
Index	263