

Contents

Acknowledgments	IX
Foreword by Steven Koblik	XI
Preface: The Cast of Characters	XIII
PROLOGUE
Collis P. Huntington: "From whom the fortunes of all of us came"	I
CHAPTER ONE
Collis P. Huntington 1862 to 1884
From California Back to New York, 1862-70	9
The Bierstadt Commission	12
Enter Arabella	16
The Park Avenue House and Its Decoration	25
The Panic of 1873 and the Turn to Philanthropy	30
Nob Hill Mansions	35
The 1876 Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia	37
Travel, Art, and Real Estate, 1876-84	42
The Triumph of Arabella	46

CHAPTER TWO

Collis P. Huntington and Arabella D. Huntington 1884 to 1900

The Country Estate at Throggs Neck	57
65 Park Avenue and 5 West 51st Street	66
Buying Pictures in America and Europe, 1884–89	68
Archer in Mexico and Spain, 1889–92	76
The 57th Street Residence, 1889–95	79
The Financial Panic of 1893	95
Contemporary European Art and Old Master Paintings, 1890s	99
Archer and Helen Huntington, 1895	104
The Colton Mansion in San Francisco	110
Henry Huntington in San Francisco and Los Angeles	114
Collis's Last Trip to Europe, 1897	118
Collis P. Huntington's Philanthropy	121
Death and Taxes	126

CHAPTER THREE

Arabella, Archer, and Henry Huntington 1900 to 1913

Spending the Inheritance, 1900–1904	131
Archer and Henry and Books	136
Arabella's Philanthropy, 1900–1904	141
Archer and the Hispanic Society of America	144
The Earthquake and Other Disruptions, 1905–6	145
The Empress Eugénie's Palace, 1906–7	150
The Kann Collection, 1907	156
The San Marino Ranch and the Beauvais Tapestries, 1909–10	173
Arabella, a Woman of Power and Principle	176
Paris and San Marino, 1910–12	179
Taxes and Marriage, 1913	187
Back to New York, 1913–14	192
Setting up Cultural Institutions	199

CHAPTER FOUR

Henry, Arabella, and Archer Huntington 1914 to 1924

The Huntingtons in Southern California, 1875–1903	203
Building the San Marino Residence, 1903–11	209
Art for the San Marino Residence	217
Henry Huntington and George Ellery Hale: The Foundation, 1906–16	224
Archer's Divorce	229
Henry Huntington's Book Collecting, 1915–19	231
The Blue Boy and the Tragic Muse	235
Private Grief and Public Acclaim, 1921–22	243
Turner's Grand Canal , 1922–23	244
Archer's Re-Marriage, Arabella's Death	250
Archer Huntington, 1923–55	256

CHAPTER FIVE

Henry E. Huntington 1924 to 1927 and His Legacy

The Huntington Mausoleum in San Marino	261
Arabella's Bequests	264
The Dispersal of Arabella's Collections	266
More British Art for San Marino, 1923–26	271
The Arabella D. Huntington Memorial Art Collection	282
One Last British Picture	287
A Research Institute in San Marino	288
The Final Steps	290
From Private Home to Public Institution	292

List of Abbreviations	296
Notes	297
Credits	345
Index	351