

CONTENTS

Foreword by Air Vice-Marshal Mike Jackson CB FRAeS, RAF (Retd)	7
Prologue	11
Acknowledgements	13
Timeline of Events	15
Introduction	25
1 Cold War Airborne Intelligence Gathering: Technology and Politics	27
2 Germany and Berlin Divided: Cockpit of Cold War Intelligence Gathering	41
3 American Corridor and Other Reconnaissance Flights	54
4 British Corridor Flights and European Reconnaissance Operations	82
5 The French Connection: The Allies' 'Ears'	103
6 Allied BCZ Light Aircraft and Helicopter Photographic Flights	119
7 Exploiting the Imagery: Units, Methodologies and Reports	146
8 Was It Worth All the Effort and What Did It Achieve?	170
9 What Did the Opposition Know?	187

Appendix	200
Glossary	204
About the Authors	215
References and Bibliography	217
Index	219

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1. Cold War American Intelligence Operations	1
2. Technology and Espionage	2
3. Germany and Radio: Disrupting the War	3
4. Intelligence Operations	4
5. Antisubmarine Warfare and the U.S. Navy	5
6. British Intelligence and the U.S. Navy	6
7. The U.S. Navy and the U.S. Army	7
8. The U.S. Army and the U.S. Navy	8
9. Allied Intelligence Operations	9
10. Exploring the Future of Intelligence Operations	10
11. What is the Future of Intelligence Operations?	11
12. What is the Future of Intelligence Operations?	12