

Contents

- 1 Editor's Introduction: Beyond Reckoning 1
CHRIS EAGLE
- 2 "Cloaca Maxima": Conceptualizing Matter in Cormac
McCarthy's Southern Fiction 5
JULIUS GREVE
- 3 The Cave of Oblivion: Platonic Mythology in Child of God 33
DIANNE C. LUCE
- 4 "The Ruined Shack": Language and Being-at-Home in Heidegger and McCarthy's Outer Dark 54
ROBERT METCALF
- 5 Literature and Death: McCarthy, Blanchot, and Suttree's
Mortal Belonging 73
PATRICK O'CONNOR
- 6 Heraclitus and the Metaphysics of War in Blood Meridian 93
IAN ALEXANDER MOORE
- 7 Borders, Landscapes, and the Earth: Eco-Phenomenology and All the Pretty Horses 109
ZACHARY TAVLIN
- 8 "The Lighted Display Case": A Nietzschean Reading of Cormac McCarthy's Border Fiction 126
LINDA WOODSON
- 9 "For the other only": The Radical Existentialism of the Priest's Tale in The Crossing 142
JENNY BRYANT AND ROBERT BERNASCONI

10	Narrative Disruption as Animal Agency in Cormac McCarthy's The Crossing	152
	RAYMOND MALEWITZ
11	Fantasy and the Expiration of Nature: The Road as Film	168
	RYAN DRAKE
12	Seeing Nothing: Making Phenomenological Sense of the Counterspectacle in McCarthy's The Road	185
	YULIYA A. TSUTSEROVA
13	Nowhere Between River and Road: A Nagelian Reading of Suttree and The Road	202
	ALBERTO L. SIANI
	Notes on Contributors	221