

III, 5
26

Fragment of a medieval manuscript page with red-inked text and a large red initial 'S'. The text is written in a Gothic script on a parchment background with red horizontal ruling lines. The page is heavily damaged, with significant portions of the ink and parchment missing, particularly in the central and lower sections. The visible text includes a large red initial 'S' followed by several lines of smaller, dark ink text, some of which is illegible due to damage. The top of the page shows some faint, possibly faded, text.

