STEINWAY

THE INSTRUMENT OF THE IMMORTALS

The reign of excellence

Every Steinway piano is personally inspected by a member of the Steinway family who, now as always, own and control the entire business. . . . This has been done for more than seventy years.

Each Steinway piano is sold at the lowest possible price, according to the principle formulated by Henry Steinway. . . . This principle has been followed for more than seventy years.

Each of the many styles and sizes is as perfect as it can be made. Five years and eleven months of preparation and construction are required to build a Steinway piano. No half-measures, no compromises are permissible. . . . This insistence on perfection has characterized each Steinway piano for more than seventy years.

The majority of the improvements marking the progress of the piano originated and were brought to perfection in the Steinway workshops. Each of the four generations of the Steinway family has made important contributions. . . . For more than seventy years, all the most advanced methods and principles have been embodied in each Steinway piano.

These are among the many reasons why the Steinway is bought in ever-increasing numbers by people who most carefully consider the family budget. To buy the best is to practice real economy. And the Steinway may be expected to give twenty, thirty, or even forty, years of perfect service. You need never buy another piano.

Considered from the standpoint of value given and received, such facts place the Steinway definitely among the least expensive of all pianos.

There is a Steinway dealer in your community, or near you, through whom you may purchase a new Steinway piano with a small cash deposit, and the balance will be extended over a period of two years.
