

Genea Media Statement:

"Genea follows strict protocols and takes every care to avoid any contamination risk. However, in rare instances, contamination can occur, which is a known risk of Assisted Reproductive Treatment (ART). Before commencing treatment, patients are informed of and consent to such risks.

Genea has been transparent about the incident with all stakeholders. It has engaged in open disclosure with the patients and we would be pleased to address with them any further concerns that they may have."