

Contents

Industrial Policy by Waxing and Waning Structural Change A Foreword by Bodo B. Gemper	V
Contributors	VIII
1. Preparing the Way for the Future: by Chance or by consciously Guided Industrial Progress?
Industrial Policy in a Free Market Economy: Slogan or Solution? by Bernhard Molitor	3
Industrial Policy in a Free Market Economy: A Matter of Conviction or Desperation? by Bodo B. Gemper	11
Democratic Planning in a Free Market Economy and Social Values by Richard L. Brinkman	21
Does Industrial Policy comply with Ludwig Erhard's Conception of the Social Market Economy? by Horst Friedrich Wünsche	37
2. Stabilization by Structural Change: Regional, Sectoral and Entrepreneurial Policies
Sectoral and Regional Elements of Industrial Policy by Eberhard Thiel	47
Stabilisation of the Social Structure versus Change of the Industrial Structure – The Case of the Ruhr District by Helmut W. Jenkis	57
The Contribution of Small and New Enterprise to Growth and Development by Klaus Werner Schatz	89

3. Improving Economic Performance: International Experience and Strategies
Industry Policy and Structural Change in Australia by Cedric Pugh	107
The Contribution of New Enterprise to Economic Growth and Employment. The Experience of the Scottish Enterprise Foundation by Tom Cannon	131
The Envisaged Revised Industrial Development Strategy of South Africa by Nicolaas van der Walt	145
The Meaning and Validity of a U.S. Industrial Policy by Siegfried G. Karsten	155
4. Social and Industrial Relations Aspects
Views of Both Sides of Industry on an EEC Industrial Policy by Egon Schoneweg	167
Some Reflections on Industrial Policies Based on British Experience by Hilde Behrend	175
Labouroriented Managementpolicy in Industry within a Social Market Economy by Herbert Schmidt	187
Index of Names	201
Subject Index	205