

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
G. J. Schutte
Introduction	1
Chapter I
R. C. Bakhuizen van den Brink	29
Isaac le Maire	31
Chapter II
P. A. Leupe	76
Letter transport overland to the Indies by the East India Company in the 17th century	77
Chapter III
H. T. Colenbrander	91
France and the East India Company in the period of the Patriots	94
Chapter IV
J. de Hullu	138
On the rise of the Indies trade of the United States of America as competitor of the East India Company in the period 1786-1790	139
Chapter V
F. de Haan	155
Everyday life in Batavia	157
Chapter VI
F. W. Stapel	182
The Ambon "Massacre" (9 March, 1623)	184
Chapter VII
W. Ph. Coolhaas	196
Notes and comments on the so-called Amboina Massacre	198

Chapter VIII
W. Fruin-Mees	241
Why Batavia and Mataram did not make peace between 1629 and 1646	243
Chapter IX
J. E. Heeres	275
Germans and Dutchmen on the sea routes to the East Indies before 1592/5; Adriaen Menninck and the Duke of Lauenburg, 1592	276
Chapter X
J. van Kan	293
The Batavian Statutes and the outer factories	295
Chapter XI
I. J. Brugmans	320
The East India Company and the prosperity of the Republic	322
Chapter XII
P. H. Pott	330
Willem Verstegen; An extraordinary member of the Council of the East Indies as adventurer in India in 1659	331
Chapter XIII
J. Keuning	361
Ambonese, Portuguese and Dutchmen: the history of Ambon to the end of the seventeenth century	362
Chapter XIV
H. Terpstra	398
Jacob Haafner and his views on colonialism	400
Chapter XV
M. A. P. Meilink-Roelofs	428
A comparative study of the administration and trade of the Dutch and English trading companies in Asia during the first half of the seventeenth century	430
Bibliography	455
Index	491