

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Note on Transliteration	ix
Introduction: Who to Blame: Party, State, or Society? Qiang Fang and Xiaobing Li	xi
PART I: CENTRALIZED POWER AND AUTHORITARIANISM	1
1 Fundamental Flaws: Corruption Reporting and Tackling in the Qing Qiang Fang	3
2 Accountability, Supervision, and Penalty: Yuan Shikai as a Watchdog in Managing Government Officials Patrick Fuliang Shan	43
PART II: POLITICAL PARTIES AND LEGITIMACY	71
3 Chiang Kai-shek versus Guomindang's Corruption in the Republic Era Sherman Xiaogang Lai	73
4 Anticorruption Policy and Party Politics: The Lost Political Battle and the Fate of the GMD Xiaobing Li	101
5 Crime (or No Crime) and Punishment: The Making of the First Big Case in New China and Legitimation of CCP Party Governance, 1950–1991 Zhiguo Yang	119

PART III: GOVERNMENT, INDIVIDUALS, AND CONFLICTING INTERESTS	143
6 Connection, Corruption, and Confrontation: Lake Weishan Xiaojia Hou	145
7 Power versus Law: Anticorruption in Shaanxi during Jiang Zemin's Era Dongyu Yang	163
8 Runaway Chinese Officials and International Chase Yue Li and Chen Liu	187
9 The Language of Sarcasm and Irony: Corruption Exposed in Popular Rhymes Helen Xiaoyan Wu	205
10 Corruption during China's Golden Ages: Case Studies in the Han and Tang Dynasties Stella Y. Xu	235
PART IV: NEW CENTURY, NEW STRUGGLE	245
11 Hu Jintao's Anticorruption Action (or non-action): The Bo Xilai Case and After Xiansheng Tian	247
12 The New Leadership Fights the Old Battle: Eight Regulations Xiaoxiao Li	281
13 Xi Jinping's Anticorruption in a Historical Perspective Qiang Fang	303
Conclusion: Anticorruption: A Global Thorny Task Qiang Fang and Xiaobing Li	335
Index	353
About the Contributors	361