

Contents

Foreword — 1

Part I: Homeric exegesis in antiquity

René Nünlist

Observations on Aristarchus' Homeric studies — 11

Stephanos Matthaios

Eratosthenes, Crates and Aristarchus on the Homeric dual. Rethinking the origins of the 'analogy vs. anomaly controversy' — 25

Filippomaria Pontani

Chi — 51

Daniela Colomo

Glossary to Odyssey VIII in a new papyrus fragment from the Leipzig Papyrus- und Ostrakasammlung — 61

Part II: Homeric and Hesiodic exegesis in Byzantine manuscripts and texts

Lara Pagani

The Iliad "Textscholien" in the Venetus A — 83

Fausto Montana

The oldest textual witness of John Tzetzes' Exegesis of the Iliad — 107

Davide Muratore

On the sources of Lascaris' edition of the D-scholia on the Iliad — 133

Marta Cardin and Olga Tribulato

Enumerating the Muses:

Tzetzes in Hes. Op. 1 and the parody of catalogic poetry in Epicharmus — 161

Part III: Pindar between scholia and lexica

Claudio Meliadò

Aristarchomastix*. Dionysius of Sidon between epic and lyric poetry — 195

Grazia Merro

Theon's Pindaric exegesis: New materials from marginalia on papyri — 213

Maria Cannatà Fera

Criticism of Pindar's poetry in the scholia vetera — 233

Giuseppe Ucciardello

A lexicographical collection in two manuscripts of Cyrillus' Lexicon and a new testimonium on Pindar — 261

Part IV: Aeschylus in the exegetical tradition

Marco Ercoles

The imaginative poet:

Aeschylus' phantasiai in ancient literary criticism — 287

Renzo Tosi

Aeschylus' scholia in ms. Ath. Iber. 209: Two examples — 315

Caterina Franchi

Around Europe in two hundred years:

The wanderings of ms. Ath. Iber. 209 — 325

Afterword

Franco Montanari

Ancient scholarship today — 345

List of Contributors — 355

Index rerum — 359

Index locorum — 371