

Contents

List of Maps	ix
List of Illustrations	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgements	xvii
1 Breaking Up and Building, 1890–95	1
Medieval Kashmir	3
First Journeys into the Countryside	14
Walter Lawrence's Friendship and Influence on Biscoe's Thinking	19
The Hunza-Nagir Campaign of 1891–92	25
Biscoe Assumes Full Charge of the Mission Schools	28
Introducing Football to Kashmiri Boys	29
Introducing Social Service to Kashmiri Boys	32
The Great Cholera Epidemic of 1892	36
The Maharaja's Visit to the Mission School	37
First Differences Between Biscoe and the Church Missionary Society	40
The Great Flood of 1893 and Its Aftermath	46
2 Now Is the Day of Small Things, 1895–99	52
Family Support After Typhoid	52
Baltistan Expedition of Arthur Neve and George Tyndale-Biscoe, 1895	58
Coaching in Kashmir	67
Ladakh Expedition by Ernest Neve and Cecil Tyndale-Biscoe, 1896	70

CONTENTS

Financial Concerns Again	77
Ladakh Expedition by Arthur Neve, Geoffrey Millais and George Tyndale-Biscoe, 1897	81
First Home Furlough, 1898	84
Maharaja Pratap Singh	86
Conclusions on the First Decade	89
3 The Challenge, 1900–05	93
Cholera Again	94
The School Engineering Corps	96
Annie Besant and Sri Pratap School	100
Breakdown	105
Funding Troubles	112
Second Home Leave	114
Similar Educational Developments in America and Britain	116
4 Exceedingly a Bad Man, 1905–10	121
Political Scene and British Attitudes to Educated and Free-Thinking Indians	121
Development of the Mission School Team	126
Development of the Character Form and the School Crest and Motto	132
Bakkal's Response and Challenge	134
Conflict with Dya Kishen Koul and Lachman Singh	137
Diwan Badri Nath	141
Dr Kate Knowles and Recognition of Women's Needs	143
5 War Years and the Aftermath, 1911–22	153
Funding Support from the Church Missionary Society and Biscoe's Health	154
Social Service in the Mission Schools	160
Return to Kashmir, 1911	165
Hostel Development	170
Food Shortages in Srinagar City, 1917–22	172
Publication of Two Books	179
The Amritsar Massacre of 13 April 1919	184
Reaction of Biscoe and Other Missionaries	190
6 Succession and Success, 1923–33	194
Succession – Eric Tyndale-Biscoe	195
The New Partnership	197

CONTENTS

Relations with the Church Missionary Society in Lahore	205
Success – The Remarriage of Young Widows	209
First Widow Remarriage in Kashmir	213
The First School for Girls in Kashmir	217
Political Awakening in Kashmir	224
Martyrs' Day	230
Meeting Sheikh Abdullah	233
7 Victory after Defeat, 1934–39	242
Missionaries and Indian Christians	242
The Tragedy at the Wular Lake	245
Response of the Dharam Sabha	251
Biscoe's Conflict with the School Staff	254
Return of Eric and Phil, Reconciliation and Different Leadership	260
The Cashmere Climbing Club	261
The Khillanmarg Avalanche	262
Hadow Memorial School Building	266
Eric's Typhoid and the End of Succession	269
8 Two Kings on One Carpet: Final Years, 1940–49	272
Fifty Year Jubilee Celebration	273
Baptisms of Hindu Teachers	276
The Slow Decline and Eventual Succession	281
Arrival of Dr Phil Edmonds	286
Departure of the Biscoes from Kashmir	289
My Body is in Africa But My Soul is in Kashmir	292
9 Epilogue	294
Transforming Kashmir	295
Decline of the Schools, 1955–59	297
Return of Eric and Phil Tyndale-Biscoe, 1960–62	300
The New Order: John Ray and Premi Gergan	304
Kashmiri Succession: Parwez and Joyce Koul	307
Notes	309
Bibliography	329
Index	333