

Contents

List of Illustrations • vii

Foreword by David Lyon • ix

Acknowledgments • xiii

Introduction • 1

- 1 Unpacking State Surveillance: Histories, Theories, and Global Contexts • 3
EMILY VAN DER MEULEN AND ROBERT HEYNEN

Section One: Medical, Disease, and Health Surveillance • 31

- 2 “Coolie” Control: State Surveillance and the Labour of Disinfection across the Late Victorian British Empire • 35
JACOB STEERE-WILLIAMS
- 3 Surveillance, Medicine, and the Misterios de la Naturaleza: Campaigns to “Cure” Deafness in Late Nineteenth-Century Mexico City • 58
HOLLY CALDWELL
- 4 “Masquerading as a Woman”: The South African Disguises Acts and the Ghosts of Apartheid Surveillance, 1906–2004 • 81
B CAMMINGA

Section Two: Identification, Regulation, and Colonial Rule • 105

- 5 The Penal Surveillant Assemblage: Attainder and Tickets of Leave in Nineteenth-Century Colonial Australia • 109

IAN WARREN AND DARREN PALMER

- 6 Controlling Transnational Asian Mobilities: A Comparison of Documentary Systems in Australia and South Africa, 1890s to 1940s • 133

UMA DHUPELIA-MESTHRIE AND MARGARET ALLEN

- 7 Bodies as Risky Resources: Japan's Colonial Identification Systems in Northeast China • 163

MIDORI OGASAWARA

- 8 A State of Exception: Frameworks and Institutions of Israeli Surveillance of Palestinians, 1948–1967 • 186

AHMAD H. SA'DI

Section Three: State Security, Policing, and Dissent • 211

- 9 Dossierreveillance in Communist Romania: Collaboration with the Securitate, 1945–1989 • 215

CRISTINA PLAMADEALA

- 10 The FBI and the American Friends Service Committee: Surveilling United States Religious Expression in the Cold War Era • 238

KATHRYN MONTALBANO

- 11 “When under Surveillance, Always Put on a Good Show”: Representations of Surveillance in the United States Underground Press, 1968–1972 • 261

ELISABETTA FERRARI AND JOHN REMENSPERGER

- 12 “That’s Not a Conversation That Belongs to the Museum”: The (In)visibility of Surveillance History at Police Museums in Ontario, Canada • 282

MATTHEW FERGUSON, JUSTIN PICHÉ, AND KEVIN WALBY

Afterword • 306

SIMONE BROWNE

List of Contributors • 309

Index • 315