

Contents

Citation Information	vii
Notes on Contributors	ix
1 German-Australian colonial entanglements: on German settler colonialism, the wavering interests of exploration, science, mission and migration, and the contestations of travelling memory Lars Eckstein and Andrew W. Hurley	1
2 Recollecting bones: the remains of German-Australian colonial entanglements Lars Eckstein	22
3 Schomburgk's Chook: the entangled South Australian collections of a German naturalist Anja Schwarz	36
4 Mephisto Lindsay Barrett	51
5 Gorgobad: reflections on a German-Australian family biography Monica C. van der Haagen-Wulff	65
6 Reports of the Cook voyages in the Hamburgischer Correspondent Fredericka van der Lubbe	81
7 'A universal, uniform humanity': the German newspaper Der Kosmopolit and entangled nation-building in nineteenth-century Australia Dennis Mischke	99

8 'Poor heathens', 'Cone-headed natives' and 'Good water': the production of knowledge of the interior of Australia through German texts from around the 1860s 112
Felicity Jenz

9 Remembering Hermannsburg and the Strehlows in cantata form: music, the German-Australian past and reconciliation 128
Andrew W. Hurley

Index 145