

Contents

I Introduction

Architecture is not enough — 5

Editorial – Libraries in the 21st Century — 7

From a Library of Objects to a Library of Interactions — 14

II Awakening the Knowledge Society – The Role of Library Architecture

More Kitchen than Grocery Store — 20

Achim Bonte, Saxon State and University Library Dresden

Libraries of the Future: A Singapore Case Study — 30

Catherine Lau, National Library Board Singapore

Spaces for Books – Places for People — 46

Max Dudler, Max Dudler Architects

Celebrating Knowledge and Scientific Workout — 50

Georg Gewers, Gewers Pudewill Architects

Henning Larsen’s Contribution to the Knowledge Based Society — 60

Werner Frosch, Henning Larsen Architects

Libraries Architecture and Innovation — 78

Ines Miersch-Süß, MSAO Architects

III Building for the Knowledge Society – The Creation of Library Architecture

New Developments of Library Buildings Worldwide — 102

Prof. Dr. Claudia Lux, Humboldt University Berlin

Designing for Evolution — 114

Elif Tinaztepe, Schmidt Hammer Lassen Architects

VI — Contents

Engaging Architecture — 132

Jette Cathrin Hopp, Snøhetta Architects

Spaces for People — 152

Marco Muscogiuri, Politecnico di Milano dABC

Public Space becomes Cultural Place — 166

Lina Lahiri, Sauerbruch Hutton Architects

Places to Study, Flirt and Stroll — 180

Max Dudler, Max Dudler Architects

The New Central Library in Dresden's Kulturpalast — 198

Stephan Schütz, gmp · von Gerkan, Marg und Partners Architects

IV Future Talk

Six Questions on Libraries and Their Architecture — 212

A Conversation between Claudia Lux, Oliver Jahn, Dante Bonuccelli

V Profiles of Authors — 223

VI Special Thanks — 231