

Contents

	Preface	IX
	Acknowledgements	X
	List of Figures, Tables and Maps	XI
1	Introduction	1
1	Why the Need to Study Insecurity and Religiosity?	2
2	A Guide for This Book	5
3	Methodology and Appendices	7
2	The Broad Frame of Secularization Theory	9
1	The Sociological Roots of Secularization Theory	10
2	Alternative Approaches	15
3	The Post-secularism	16
4	Modernity and Modernizations: How to Simplify the Complex	18
5	One Secularization, More Secularizations	20
6	Different Levels of Interpretation	23
7	Which Secularization?	26
3	Insecurity Theory in Sociological Literature	29
1	The Sociological Roots of Insecurity Theory	31
2	Insecurity Theory as a Macro Theory to Explain Religious Decline	34
3	Insecurity Theory as a Micro Theory to Explain Religious Change	38
3.1	Religiosity as a Social Buffer	41
3.2	Religiosity as an Economic Buffer	42
3.3	Religiosity as a Psychological or Cognitive Buffer	43
4	Religious Coping and Religious Resources	44
4	A Look at the World: The Empirical Bases of Insecurity Theory	47
1	Towards a More Robust Exploration	51
2	Steps in Modernization	56
5	Exploring Relations: Does Insecurity Matter?	60
1	Are Religious People Happier?	62
2	Does Religiosity Mitigate Losses in Life Satisfaction?	67

3	Are Insecure People More Likely to Be Religious?	71
4	Disentangling the Mechanisms: One Insecurity, More Insecurities	75
6	Bringing Back Individuals: Do Negative Events Foster Religiosity?	78
1	A Longitudinal Panel Study for Germany and the United Kingdom	80
2	Testing the Mechanisms of Individual Change	82
3	The (Non) Effect of Life-threatening Events	86
7	Moving into the Longitudinal: Changes in Insecurity and Secularization	91
1	Towards a Model for Explaining Religious Change	92
2	Conceptualizing Insecurity and Its Effect on Religiosity	95
3	Longitudinal Argumentations and Cross-sectional Data	98
4	Insecurity Theory: More Static Than Dynamic	102
8	Insecurity and Religious Change: Facts, Facets and Notes of Caution	113
1	Europe as Exception or Example?	116
2	Religious Evolution in Asia, Africa and South America	121
	2.1 Asia	123
	2.2 Africa	127
	2.3 South America	130
3	Same Path, Different Positions	132
9	Conclusions: The Triggering Role of Insecurity	134
1	Insecurity and Religious Decline: What Do We Know and What Should We Know?	136
2	From Observation to Understanding	139
3	Final Remarks	145
	Appendix 1: Studying Religion with Quantitative Methods: A Toolbox	149
1	Globalization of Surveys	150
2	Individual and Aggregate Relations – Reasoning Multilevel	153
3	Causality and Associations	155
4	Cross-sectional and Longitudinal Relations	158
5	Multidimensionality	160

Appendix 2: Data, Methods and Tables	163
1 The Surveys	163
2 The Techniques	168
3 The Tables	173
Bibliography	191
Author Index	205
Thematic Index	207