

Contents

List of tables	viii
List of figures	ix
List of contributors	x
Acknowledgements	xiv
Foreword: Coercion at work, violence in politics: what changed between 1890 and 1930?	xv
GEOFF ELEY
1 Introduction: strikebreaking and industrial vigilantism as a historical problem	1
MATTEO MILLAN AND ALESSANDRO SALUPPO
PART 1
Institutional responses	21
2 Policies and practices against labour movement in the late Russian Empire	23
VOLODYMYR KULIKOV AND IRINA SHILNIKOVA
3 Violence against strikers in the rural peripheries of the Iberian Peninsula, 1890–1915	44
ASSUMPTA CASTILLO CAÑIZ
4 The Swedish labour market c. 1870–1914: a labour market regime without repression?	62
ERIK BENGTTSSON
5 State authorities, municipal forces and military intervention in the policing of strikes in Austria-Hungary, 1890–1914	79
CLAIRE MORELON

- 6 Employers of the world, unite!: the transnational mobilisation of industrialists around World War I 97
PIERRE EICHENBERGER
- PART 2
- Strikebreaking tactics and practices 115
- 7 Anti-labour repression in the in-between spaces of empire: the Compagnie des Messageries Maritimes and the steamship workers of the “China Line” (1900–20) 117
CHARLES BÉGUÉ FAWELL
- 8 In the name of constitutionalism and Islam: the murky world of labour politics in Calcutta’s docklands 134
PRERNA AGARWAL
- 9 Cairo, Athens, Salonica: strikebreaking and the anti-labour practices of employers and the state in the early twentieth-century cigarette industry 153
THANASIS BETAS
- 10 In reaction to revolution: anti-strike mentalities and practices in the Russian radical right, 1905–14 168
GEORGE GILBERT
- 11 “We can kill striking workers without being prosecuted”: armed bands of strikebreakers in late Imperial Germany 186
AMERIGO CARUSO
- PART 3
- Civic and industrial vigilantism 203
- 12 The wild west of employer anti-unionism: the glorification of vigilantism and individualism in the early twentieth-century United States 205
VILJA HULDEN AND CHAD PEARSON
- 13 Vigilant citizens: the case of the Volunteer Police Force, 1911–14 222
ALESSANDRO SALUPPO

14	From “state protection” to “private defence”: strikebreaking, civilian armed mobilisation and the rise of Italian fascism	242
	MATTEO MILLAN
15	Conclusion: strikebreaking and the fault lines of mass society, 1880–1930	259
	MARTIN CONWAY
	Index	268