

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Buying Piraeus, owning Greece	1
A very brief history of neoliberalism	4
McTheatre: Neoliberalism on stage	6
Adaptation, theatre, and resistance to neoliberal hegemony	8
The cultural commons	12
Chapter summaries	14
Conclusion	18
1. Adaptation: Shared cultural myths	22
The field of adaptation	23
The political economy of adaptation	28
Why the Greeks in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries?	32
Global Greeks?	38
Adaptation's cosmopolitan political potential	41
Conclusion	43
2. Economic (neo)colonialism: Exploitation makes globalization go 'round	47
A global economy	48
Economic anti-colonialism: Protest in Femi Osofisan's Women of Owu	50
Art and culture as survival tools	57
The god of profit: Nation building and global economics in Moira Buffini's Welcome to Thebes	61
Violence and disaster capitalism	65
Politics of disavowal: Neoliberal rhetoric and results	68
Conclusion	71

3. ...And their families: Neoliberal family and the dissolution of the social	74
Family and the neoliberal paradox	75
Competing models of family in Marina Carr's By the Bog of Cats	79
Contradictions to neoliberal ideals: Travellers and domestic labor	88
Breaking down society, building society through theatre	93
Conclusion	96
4. Korinthiazomai: Rewriting desire and perverse enjoyment	99
The psychology of neoliberalism	100
New plays from old fragments	104
Commodified society: Sex, religion, and family	107
Alcmaeon's symptom	111
Creon's obsession	115
God from the law	119
Conclusion	121
5. Ubuntu: Building a common world	124
Cosmopolitan ethics	125
Molera and its classical intertexts	130
Molera and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission	133
African languages and performance forms	138
The humane power of the Xhosa Chorus	140
Conclusion	144
Conclusion: Buying Greece: Or, you get what you pay for	148
Theatre takes on culture	150
Theatre takes on capitalism	154
Index	160