

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	xx
List of contributors	xxii
Preface	xxiv
1 What can we learn from palaeolandscapes in archaeology?	1
MIKE T. CARSON
2 Potential contributions of palaeolandscape archaeology: building strength through diversity	11
MIKE T. CARSON
3 25 Years of geoarchaeological research on Paleoindian landscapes: a look back at the discipline	23
ANDREA K. L. FREEMAN
4 Pathways along the pacific: using early stone tools to reconstruct coastal migration between Japan and the Americas	39
IAN BUVIT, KARISA TERRY, AND MASAMI IZUHO
5 From wetlands to deserts: the role of water in the prehistoric occupation of eastern Jordan	82
LISA A. MAHER, A. J. WHITE, JORDAN BROWN, FELICIA DE PEÑA, AND CHRISTOPHER J. H. AMES

6	Creating living predictive models of coastal palaeoenvironmental landscapes: Georgia, USA LINDSEY E. COCHRAN, VICTOR D. THOMPSON, AND BRYAN TUCKER	130
7	The Maya domestic landscape and household resilience at Actuncan, Belize: a reconstruction and modern implications KARA A. FULTON AND DAVID W. MIXTER	156
8	Holocene sea-level change and evolution of prehistoric settlements around the Yangtze Delta region YIJIE ZHUANG AND SHENGLUN DU	192
9	Palaeolandscapes, radiocarbon chronologies, and the human settlement of southern lowland and island Papua New Guinea BEN SHAW	215
10	Kisim save long graun: understanding the nature of landscape change in modelling Lapita in Papua New Guinea GLENN R. SUMMERHAYES	291
11	How island peoples adapt to climate change: insights from studies of Fiji's hillforts PATRICK D. NUNN, ELIA NAKORO, ROSELYN KUMAR, MELI NANUKU, AND MEREONI CAMAILAKEBA	313
12	3500 years in a changing landscape: the House of Taga in the Mariana Islands, western Micronesia MIKE T. CARSON AND HSIAO-CHUN HUNG	340
13	What have palaeolandscapes revealed about the past and for the future? MIKE T. CARSON	377
	Index	382