

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD (O. RUSH) . . . . .	VII
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS . . . . .	XIII
ABBREVIATIONS AND SIGLA . . . . .	XIX
BIBLIOGRAPHY . . . . .	XXI
 GENERAL INTRODUCTION . . . . .	 1
 CHAPTER ONE: A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE NOTION OF VESTIGIA ECCLESIAE : FROM CALVIN TO MYSTICI CORPORIS . . . . .	 5
I. The Sixteenth-century Calvinist Foundation of the Notion of Vestigia ecclesiae : On the Nature of the Church. . . . .	6
II. The Roman Catholic Way of Folding the Ecclesial Borders up to the Nineteenth Century: On Ecclesial Belonging . . . . .	12
1. Proving One's Belonging to the Church: The Attributes of the vera ecclesia Christi . . . . .	13
2. Proving the Uniqueness of the Church: Reflection on the Borders of the Church from the Nineteenth Century up to Mystici corporis Christi . . . . .	16
III. Conclusions . . . . .	23
 CHAPTER TWO: THE RECEPTION OF THE CALVINIST NOTION OF VESTIGIA ECCLESIAE AND ITS DEVELOPMENT IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY . . . . .	 27
I. First Appearance of Vestigia ecclesiae within the Debate on the Mystical Body of Christ . . . . .	28
1. The Forerunners of Mystici corporis . . . . .	28
2. Mystici corporis (1943): The "Effective" Members of the Church. . . . .	30
3. 1949: A Turning Point in the Magisterial and Theological Debates on Church Membership . . . . .	33
II. The Early Twentieth-century Reception of Vestigia ecclesiae as/or Elementa ecclesiae in Roman Catholic and Ecumenical Circles . . . . .	39
1. Roman Catholic Theologians: The Evolution of the Positive Consideration of the Nature of Non-Catholic Christians . . . . .	39

2. The Official Reception of the Category of Elementa ecclesiae in Ecumenical Circles . . . . .	63
III. Conclusions . . . . .	77
 CHAPTER THREE: PREPARATIONS FOR THE COUNCIL (1959-1962): FROM VESTIGIA ECCLESIAE TO ELEMENTA SEU BONA ECCLESIAE . . . . .	79
I. From the CCQÆ to the Vota of the Dutch Bishops: The Arrival on the Scene of the Notion of Vestigia ecclesiae . . . . .	81
II. Church Membership and the Vestigiaelementa within the First SPCU Drafts . . . . .	85
1. Sub-commission I: De membris ecclesiae . . . . .	87
2. Sub-commission III: De oecumenismo catholico et de opere conversionis . . . . .	101
III. The Disappearance of Vestigia ecclesiae in the Draft of De ecclesia Prepared by the Theological Commission . . . . .	111
1. The Elements of the Church within the Draft De membris ecclesiae of the Sub-commission. . . . .	114
2. The Sub-commission on Ecumenism. . . . .	128
IV. Conclusions . . . . .	142
 CHAPTER FOUR: VATICAN II: THE NOTION OF ELEMENTA ECCLESIAE BECOMES OFFICIAL CATHOLIC DOCTRINE (1962-1964). . . . .	147
I. The First Council Period: The Four Schemata that Mark an Ecclesiological-ecumenical Framework . . . . .	150
1. “Quid sit unitas”: The Schema on Christian Unity of the Oriental Commission . . . . .	151
2. “Quid sit oecumenismus”: The SPCU’s Drafts under Discussion. . . . .	157
3. “Quid sit ecclesia”: The Schema on the Church of the TC under Attack . . . . .	159
4. Philips’s Draft De ecclesia . . . . .	164
II. The First Intersession: The “Mixed Commission” for Ecumenical Affairs . . . . .	169
1. Jan Witte’s Draft: Developing Catholic Principles for Ecumenism . . . . .	173
2. Gustave Thils on the Ecclesial Reality of the Western Communities. . . . .	178
III. The Second Council Period: Refining the Issue of Ecclesial Membership. . . . .	182

1. The New De ecclesia : Subordinating the Notion of subsistit to the Elementa ecclesiae . . . . .	183
2. The New De oecumenismo : The Implications of the Ecclesiology of the Elements for a Re-consideration of the “Status” of the Western Communities . . . . .	190
IV. Reaching a Conciliar Doctrine . . . . .	201
1. Paragraph 8 of De ecclesia : From adesse to subsistere . . . . .	202
2. Paragraph 3 of De oecumenismo : The Elementa and Their Salvific Efficacy . . . . .	205
V. The Doctrine of the Elementa ecclesiae Viewed by the Non-Catholic Observers . . . . .	213
1. The Fullness vs. Partial Presence of the Ecclesial Elements: The Quantitative Approach . . . . .	216
2. The Extremely Centralized Conception of Ecumenism . . . . .	221
VI. Conclusions . . . . .	226
FINAL ASSESSMENT: EVALUATING THE DOCTRINE OF THE ELEMENTS THROUGH PARTICULAR POSTCONCILIAR CASES. . . . .	229
I. The Evolution of the Doctrine of the Elements: A Double Shift . . . . .	233
1. Historical Shift: From Sixteenth-century Calvinism to Twentieth-century Ecumenism. . . . .	233
2. Systematic Shift: From Periphery to a “Decentered Center” . . . . .	235
II. Post-conciliar Case Studies: Catholic Magisterium and Ecumenical Documents . . . . .	240
1. Roman Catholic Magisterial Teaching: Dominus Iesus (2000) and Responsa ad quaestiones de aliquibus sententiis ad doctrinam de ecclesia pertinentibus (2007) . . . . .	242
2. Ecumenical Milieus: The Apostolicity of the Church (2006) and The Church: Towards a Common Vision (2013). . . . .	251
INDEX OF NAMES . . . . .	257