

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xv

PART I. THE LITERARY APPROACH TO THE EARLY DISCOURSES

1. Introduction: Rereading the Udumbarika-sutta	3
A First Textual Analysis: Why the Udumbarika-sutta ?	10
The Formulaic Opening of the Mahāsakuludāyi-sutta as a Literary Preamble to the Udumbarika	14
The Opening of the Pāli Udumbarika-sutta	19
The Philosophy of the Udumbarika	25
Versions of the Udumbarika-sutta	28
Conclusion	37
2. Literary Design in the Early Discourses	41
Multivalence in the Majjhima Nikāya : A Reading of the Cūlatanḥāsankhaya-sutta	48
The Art of Narrative in the Sīla-kkhandha-vagga I: The Brahmajāla	54
The Art of Narrative in the Sīla-kkhandha-vagga II: The Sāmaññaphala	60
Applying and Reapplying the SKV Formula	65
What Is Editing?	73
Conclusion: The Art of Interpretation in the Nikāyas	79

PART II. INNER AND OUTER WORLDS OF LITERARY EXPRESSION

3. Mindfulness of the Buddha in the Mahāparinibbāna-sutta	83
Reading and Listening to the Mahāparinibbāna-sutta (MPS)	93
The Climax: The Buddha Relinquishes His Life	99
Nearing the Buddha's Death	107
Death and Its Aftermath	111
Epilogue: Ānanda's Visualization of the Buddha before Enlightenment	113
4. The Folklore of Sutta: Performance in the Early Discourses, and Texts as Versions	119
Buddhist Fun in the Pāṭika-sutta	125

The Pāṭika as a Version	132
A Doctrinal Version	135
The Buddha's Perplexing Austerities in the Mahāsīhanāda	139
Bring in the Jātakas	141
The Closing Section of the Pāṭika	144
Conclusion	145

PART III. COMPOSING BUDDHIST SCRIPTURE THROUGH THE PLAY OF FORMULAS

5. The Play of Formulas: Toward a Theory of Composition for the Early Discourses	149
The Perils of Historicism in Buddhist Studies	150
Literary Solutions to Historicist Fallacies	156
The Primacy of the Formula	165
An Alternative Approach	171
The Play of Formulas and the Unanswered Questions	174
Playing with Formulas on Brahmin-Householders	180
Conclusion: Buddhist Orality Revisited	191
6. Retelling the Buddha's Enlightenment in the Majjhima Nikāya	200
Awakening in the Bhayabherava-sutta ("The Discourse on Fear and Dread," MN 4)	201
The Dvedhāvitakka-sutta ("The Discourse on Two Types of Thoughts," MN 19)	204
The Ariyapariyesanā-sutta ("The Discourse on the Noble Search," MN 26)	207
The Mahāsaccaka-sutta ("The Greater Discourse with Saccaka," MN 36)	215
The Bodhirājakumāra-sutta ("The Discourse to Prince Bodhi," MN 85)	218
The Saṅgārava-sutta ("The Discourse to Saṅgārava," MN 100)	222
Conclusion	223
7. Conclusion: The Play of Formulas and Meditative Practice	225
Bibliography	235
Index	253