

Contents

List of Illustrations VII

Notes on Contributors XII

Introduction 1

Eric Storm and Joep Leerssen

- 1 Trademarking the Nation: World Fairs, Spectacles, and the Banalization of Nationalism 31
Joep Leerssen
- 2 The Transnational Construction of National Identities: A Classification of National Pavilions at World Fairs 53
Eric Storm
- 3 From the New York Crystal Palace to the World of Tomorrow: World Fairs as a Transnational Series 84
Florian Groß
- 4 Russian National Identity at World Fairs, 1851–1900 107
Anthony Swift
- 5 Roma Musicians, Folk Art and Traditional Food from Romania at the Paris World Fairs of 1889 and 1900 144
Cosmin Minea
- 6 Portraying France: French Art in American World Fairs, 1893–1915 170
Claire Hendren
- 7 Selling Tea as Japanese History: Culture, Consumption and International Expositions, 1873–1910 193
Taka Oshikiri
- 8 Self Becomes Nation: Sol Bloom and America's World Fairs, 1893–1939 217
Robert W. Rydell

- 9 Colombia in the Age of Exhibitions: Envisioning the Nation in a Global Context, 1892–1929 237
Sven Schuster
- 10 Displaying the “Mexican”: National Identity and Transnational Entanglements at the New York World’s Fair, 1939–40 265
Miriam Oesterreich
- 11 World Fairs as Tools of Diplomacy: Interwar Poland 300
Bartosz Dziewanowski-Stefańczyk
- 12 Promoting Sweden: The Socioeconomic Section of the Swedish Pavilion Display at the 1937 World Fair in Paris 329
Christina Romlid
- 13 The International Institute for Intellectual Co-operation at the World Fair 1937 in Paris: Profiling Internationalism in a “Hyper-nationalistic” Context? 356
Jonathan Voges
- 14 Exhibiting European Integration at Expo 58: The European Coal and Steel Community Pavilion 375
Anastasia Remes
- Index of Personal Names, Exhibitions and Cities 405