

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
The diffusion of authoritarian models in the era of fascism. An introduction	1
ANTÓNIO COSTA PINTO
1 Looking for a third way: Salazar's dictatorship and the diffusion of authoritarian models in the era of fascism	7
ANTÓNIO COSTA PINTO
2 The multifaceted appeal of the Portuguese new state: Foreign book donors in Salazar's library	38
RITA ALMEIDA DE CARVALHO AND DUNCAN SIMPSON
3 'Salazar's splendid dictatorship': Selling authoritarian ideas in democratic Denmark	59
JOACHIM LUND
4 Portuguese Salazarism as an example for a third way 'renewal' in the Netherlands, 1933–1946	76
ROBIN DE BRUIN
5 Unlikely Mediterranean authoritarian crossings: Salazar's Portugal as model for the 4th of August dictatorship in Greece (1936–1940)	91
ARISTOTLE KALLIS
6 Vichy and the Salazarist model	107
OLIVIER DARD AND ANA ISABEL SARDINHA-DESVÍGNES

vi	Contents
7	Dimitrije Ljotić and Zbor's corporatist project for interwar Yugoslavia	122
	RASTKO LOMPAR
8	Corporatist models in the ideology of the Czechoslovak National Fascist Community	137
	JAKUB DRÁBIK
9	The three faces of Croatian corporatism, 1941–1945	154
	LEO MARIĆ
10	The Andes encounters the Iberian dictatorships: Perceptions of Salazarism and Francoism in Ecuador, Peru, and Colombia (1930–1950)	171
	CARLOS ESPINOSA
11	Selective appropriations of Iberian dictatorships and the radical right in 1930s Argentina and Chile	192
	GABRIELA GOMES
12	Intellectual debates about Catholic corporatism in 1930s Brazil	213
	LUCIANO ARONNE DE ABREU AND GABRIEL DUARTE COSTAGUTA
	Index	228