

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction: Nuclear Energy and Society in Postwar Europe	1
Arne Kaijser, Markku Lehtonen, Jan-Henrik Meyer, and Mar Rubio-Varas

Part 1: Context

1	Nuclear-Society Relations from the Dawn of the Nuclear Age	27
Paul Josephson, Jan-Henrik Meyer, and Arne Kaijser
2	The Changing Economic Context Influencing Nuclear Decisions	52
Mar Rubio-Varas

Part 2: Actors

3	One Movement or Many? The Diversity of Antinuclear Movements in Europe	83
Albert Presas i Puig and Jan-Henrik Meyer
4	International Organizations and the Atom: How Comecon, Euratom, and the OECD Nuclear Energy Agency Developed Societal Engagement	112
Paul Josephson and Markku Lehtonen

Part 3: Perspectives

5	Risky or Beneficial? Exploring Perceptions of Nuclear Energy over Time in a Cross-Country Perspective	147
Josep Espluga, Wilfried Konrad, Ann Enander, Beatriz Medina, Ana Prades, and Pieter Cools
6	Trust and Mistrust in Radioactive Waste Management: Historical Experience from High- and Low-Trust Contexts	170
Markku Lehtonen, Matthew Cotton, and Tatiana Kasperski

7	Nuclear Power and Environmental Justice: The Case for Political Equality Matthew Cotton	202
8	Nuclear Energy in Europe: A Public Technology Stathis Arapostathis, Robert Bud, and Helmuth Trischler	230
9	Nuclear Installations at European Borders: Transboundary Collaboration and Conflict Arne Kaijser and Jan-Henrik Meyer	254
	Conclusions: Future Challenges for Nuclear Energy and Society in a Historical Perspective Arne Kaijser, Markku Lehtonen, Jan-Henrik Meyer, and Mar Rubio-Varas	279
	Contributors	303
	Index	309