

Contents

Introduction MARIJE OSNABRUGGE . . . . .	7
---	---

Defining Genres

The So-Called Hierarchy of Genres in Seventeenth-Century Dutch Art Theory JAN BLANC . . . . .	19
Spotting Specialists: A Digital Approach to Contemporary Concepts of Genre and Specialisation WEIXUAN LI . . . . .	43
The Seventeenth-Century Dutch Portrait: An Unstable Genre ANN JENSEN ADAMS . . . . .	73
Bambocciata : Investigating a 'Would-Be Genre' SUZANNE BAVEREZ . . . . .	101
From Genre Scenes à l'antique to genre sérieux : The Contribution of Gerard de Laïresse TIJANA ŽAKULA . . . . .	127
Definition through Appreciation: The Corporate Group Portrait from the Seventeenth until the Twenty-First Century NORBERT E. MIDDELKOOP . . . . .	143

Artists and Genres

Guns and Roses: Versatility and Variety in the Oeuvre of Jacques de Gheyn SUSANNE BARTELS . . . . .	167
Otto Marseus van Schrieck and the Sottobosco Paintings: A Hybrid Subject as a Form of Automimesis V.E. MANDRIJ . . . . .	193
Rembrandt as Genre and History Painter: Picturing Pain STEPHANIE S. DICKEY . . . . .	215
Defining the Hybrid Genre in the Context of Saenredam's Perspectives HELEN HILLYARD . . . . .	239
The 'Little Street': Vermeer's Writing on the Wall REINDERT FALKENBURG . . . . .	261

The Market and Society

The Dominance of History Painting: Social Class and Subject Matter of Paintings in Amsterdam, 1650–1700 ANGELA JAGER. . . . .	273
Rethinking Swanenburg: The Rise and Fortune of New Iconographies of the 'Hell' in Italy and the Northern Netherlands TANIA DE NILE . . . . .	291
La scène de corps de garde comme autoreprésentation LÉONARD POUY . . . . .	311
Honour and Shame in Dutch Seventeenth-Century Art and Culture WAYNE FRANITS . . . . .	331
Bibliography. . . . .	353
About the Authors . . . . .	391
Index . . . . .	397