

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of contributors	xiii
1. Introduction Haidy Geismar, Ton Otto and Cameron David Warner	1
Part 1 Living with and against impermanence
2. Heavy curtains and deep sleep within darkness Tsering Woesser	25
3. Disinheriting social death: towards an ethnographic theory of impermanence Carole McGranahan	28
4. Atheist endings: imagining having been in contemporary Kyrgyzstan Maria Louw	47
5. Encountering impermanence, making change: a case study of attachment and alcoholism in Thailand Julia Cassaniti	65
6. Holding on and letting go: Tanzanian Indians' responses to impermanence Cecil Marie Schou Pallesen	83
Part 2 States of being and becoming
7. A Melanesian impermanence Joe Nalo	109
8. 'We are not an emblem': impermanence and materiality in Asmat lifeworlds Anna-Karina Hermkens and Jaap Timmer	110

9. The unmaking and remaking of cultural worlds: reinventing ritual on Baluan Island, Papua New Guinea Ton Otto	131
10. 'Do what you think about': fashionable responses to the end of Tibet Cameron David Warner	155
Part 3 Structures and practices of care
11. Negotiating impermanence: care and the medical imaginary among people with cancer Henry Llewellyn	183
12. Caring for the social (in museums) Haidy Geismar	205
13. Transitional sites and 'material memory': impermanence and Ireland's derelict Magdalene Laundries Laura McAtackney	226
14. Photos and artist statement Alison Lowry	245
Part 4 Curating impermanence
15. 'Neurosis of the sterile egg' – permanence and paradox: museum strategies for the representation of Gustav Metzger's auto-destructive art Pip Laurenson and Lucy Bayley	251
16. Culturing impermanence at the museum: the metabolic collection Martin Grünfeld	272
17. Screenshooting impermanence Winnie Soon and Sarah Schorr	292
18. 'Museum of Impermanence': the making of an exhibition Ulrik Høj Johnsen, Ton Otto and Cameron David Warner	305
19. Epilogue: self unhinged Caitlin DeSilvey	334
Index	342