

TABLE OF CONTENTS

|   |    |
|---|----|
| Preface   | 1  |
| INTRODUCTION  | 5  |
| Geographic names  | 8  |
| Historiography  | 8  |
| Approach  | 11 |
| Sources   | 12 |
| Woodcarvers   | 13 |
| The Netherlands  | 13 |
| Britain  | 14 |
| PART I   |    |
| 1650–1675: ROTTERDAM, THE GIBBONS FAMILY,AND WOODCARVING IN THE NETHERLANDS AND BRITAIN |    |
| CHAPTER 1   |    |
| THE ANGLO-DUTCH HISTORICAL CONTEXT  | 19 |
| CHAPTER 2   |    |
| ROTTERDAM AND THE BRITISH   | 21 |
| CHAPTER 3   |    |
| WOODCARVING IN ROTTERDAM  | 27 |
| The artistic milieu   | 27 |
| The Schielandshuis, Rotterdam's most beautiful building                                      | 28 |
| Sculpture  | 33 |
| Paper cuttings   | 38 |
| Woodcarving   | 41 |
| The Van Douwe Family  | 50 |
| The Verschuier Family   | 58 |

|  |  |     |
|--|--|-----|
| CHAPTER 4  |  |     |
| THE GIBBONS FAMILY IN ROTTERDAM                                      |  | 63  |
| CHAPTER 5  |  |     |
| WOODCARVING IN THE NETHERLANDS                                       |  | 67  |
| Auricular  |  | 67  |
| Two Auricular openwork carvings                               |  | 70  |
| Frames and console tables                                     |  | 73  |
| Coexistence of Auricular and Classical forms                  |  | 74  |
| The Classical style  |  | 78  |
| Trophy frames   |  | 86  |
| Pieter Post, architect   |  | 89  |
| Pieter Roman, woodcarver                                      |  | 91  |
| Gerrit Goosman and other woodcarvers                          |  | 93  |
| The Landshuis, Hellevoetsluis                                 |  | 96  |
| The Powder Magazine, Delft and a type of carved coats of arms |  | 105 |
| Dutch ship carving   |  | 108 |
| Admiralties   |  | 110 |
| Warships  |  | 111 |
| Yachts  |  | 113 |
| CHAPTER 6  |  |     |
| WOODCARVING IN BRITAIN   |  | 119 |
| Migration of Dutch artists and craftsmen                             |  | 119 |
| London disasters and their impact on woodcarving                     |  | 121 |
| Inigo Jones, architect   |  | 122 |
| Jacobean tradition meets Classicism                                  |  | 124 |
| Hugh May, architect  |  | 133 |
| English Auricular?   |  | 136 |
| The Duke of Lauderdale, patron of the arts                           |  | 137 |
| Sir William Bruce, architect                                  |  | 140 |
| The Palace of Holyroodhouse                                   |  | 142 |
| Ship carving   |  | 150 |
| Yachts  |  | 150 |
| Warships  |  | 153 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| CHAPTER 7  |     |
| GRINLING GIBBONS'S EARLY CAREER                  |     |
| Three writers on Gibbons's beginnings in England | 157 |
| Gibbons in York                                  | 164 |
| Gibbons's training: theories                     | 166 |

PART II

1675-1700: THE HAGUE, WILLIAM AND MARY, AND WOODCARVING AT THEIR ANGLO-DUTCH COURT

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| CHAPTER 1  |     |
| THE ANGLO-DUTCH HISTORICAL CONTEXT               | 177 |
| CHAPTER 2  |     |
| THE HAGUE'S RELATIONSHIP WITH BRITAIN            | 179 |
| The seat of the government of the Dutch Republic | 179 |
| The court  | 183 |
| The Huygens family                        | 185 |
| CHAPTER 3  |     |
| WOODCARVING IN THE HAGUE                         | 187 |
| The cultural milieu                              | 187 |
| Daniel Marot                                     | 191 |
| Confrerie Pictura                                | 194 |
| Frederick van Tongeren                           | 196 |
| Johannes Blommendael                             | 198 |
| Anthony Bogemaker                                | 204 |
| Johannes Sonnemans                               | 206 |
| Willem van Sundert                               | 209 |
| Jacob Roman                                      | 214 |
| Johannes Hannart                                 | 219 |
| Nicolaas Lanckamp                                | 228 |
| Works by anonymous woodcarvers                   | 232 |
| Openwork acanthus panels                  | 241 |
| Organ case from the Kloosterkerk          | 245 |
| Carriages                                 | 247 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| CHAPTER 4   |     |
| WOODCARVING AT THE COURT OFWILLIAM AND MARY IN THE NETHERLANDS                                |     |
| Introduction  | 251 |
| Het Loo   | 252 |
| De Voorst   | 261 |
| Middachten  | 273 |
| Other carvings  | 278 |
| CHAPTER 5   |     |
| WOODCARVING IN ENGLAND DURING WILLIAM AND MARY'S REIGN  |     |
| Hampton Court   | 286 |
| Kensington Palace   | 299 |
| Stately homes   | 304 |
| Furniture   | 314 |
| Church furnishing   | 316 |
| The Admiralty Boardroom in Whitehall,and the Court Room of the New River Company in Islington | 334 |
| CHAPTER 6   |     |
| GRINLING GIBBONS – CARVER IN WOOD AND STONE   |     |
| Gibbons's image   | 343 |
| Gibbons as a sculptor   | 345 |
| Gibbons and other sculptors   | 347 |
| Gibbons's influence   | 353 |
| Conclusion  | 357 |
| Bibliography  | 363 |
| Notes   | 377 |
| Index   | 405 |