

Contents

Acknowledgments	vi
Introduction: The Matter of Form	1
1. The Corporeal Urn	51
2. La Pensée incarnée : Embodying the Unrepresentable in Anne F. Garréta's Sphinx	69
3. "All life is figure and ground": Samuel Beckett and the Politics of Embodied Form	98
4. The Unbearable Lightness of Being: Chiasmus, Embodiment, and Interpretation in Maurice Blanchot	138
5. The Hunger Artist: Testimony, Representation, and Embodiment in Primo Levi	151
Afterword: Against the Unrepresentable: The Common Sense of Embodied Form	193
Bibliography	205
Index	220