

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
List of Contributors	xi
Introduction Deborah Ascher Barnstone and Maria Makela	1
Part One New Materials in Artistic Applications
1 Making Lemonade out of Lemons: Merz and Material Property Maria Makela	11
2 Experimentation and Invention in Weaving at the Bauhaus Isabel Wünsche	39
3 Paper Promises: Inflation and the Insufficiency of Ersatz in Weimar Germany Erin Sullivan Maynes	61
4 Abject Objects: Til Brugman, Evidentiary Representation, and Sexology's Celluloid Fixation Thomas O. Haakenson	85
Part Two New Chemicals and Reprographic Processes
5 Visual Explosion in the Weimar Era's Print Media Andrés Mario Zervigón	117
6 László Moholy-Nagy: Adventures in Light, Space, and Time Donna West Brett	143
Part Three Traditional Materials in New Applications
7 The Emperor's New Glass: Transparency as Substance and Symbol in Interwar Design Freyja Hartzell	167
8 Inverted Cubism or the Spatial Painting: Adolf Rading's Dr. Rabe House Deborah Ascher Barnstone	197

9 Renée Sintenis, Wendt & Kühn, Lotte Pritzel: Modes, Markets, and Materials in Domestic Objects, 1910–30 Nina Lübbren	221
Index	247