

Contents

Introduction	1
Pankaj Jain and Jeffery D. Long
PART I: EPISTEMOLOGICAL ENCOUNTERS: EAST AND WEST	7
1 The Dialogical and Therapeutic Paradigms in Indian Philosophy Karl-Stéphan Bouthillette	9
2 Sāṃkhya/Yoga as an Indian Religious and Cultural Science Al Collins	37
3 The Notion of Play (Līlā) in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism: Its Implications for the Western Understanding of Play Carl Olson	61
PART II: HINDU, BUDDHIST, AND JAIN THEORIES FOR RELIGION	83
4 Dharma: A Short History Pankaj Jain	85
5 Anthropology and Religious Studies through Buddhist Lens: Dissolution of the Observer and the Observed in Emptiness Soraj Hongladarom	93
6 Non-Reductive Integral Pluralism: Anekāntavāda as a Methodology for the Study of Religions Jeffery D. Long	109

7	Mahayana Buddhism and the Social Sciences	131
	John Clammer
	Index	149
	Contributor Biographies	153