

Contents

Introduction	1
Rajesh Kumar and Om Prakash
References	13
A Troika For 21st-Century Indian Linguistics: Pragmatics, Cognition, And Language Acquisition	15
Rukmini Bhaya Nair
1 Pragmatics: Speech Act Theory, Implicature and the Criticality of Context	17
2 Cognition: Tool Using, Truth and Narrative	23
3 Language Acquisition: Is There an EAD?	27
References	34
Linguistic Variation, Discourse, and Culture	37
Probal Dasgupta
1 Preliminary Remarks	37
2 Significating and Discourse	39
3 Substance-Driven Study of Form	42
4 Defaults and Variation	50
4.1 Verbs Converted from Dyadic Nouns	51
4.2 Vapid Lexemes	52
4.3 Variation Across Genres	55
References	55
Variation, Conformity, and Possibility: What WE Are	57
Rakesh M. Bhatt
1 Introduction	57
2 The Politics of Conformity and WE	58
3 WE and Globalization	64
4 Conclusion: Toward a Politics of Possibility	68
Notes	69
References	69

Representation, Narration, and Appropriateness in Hindi-Urdu Fiction	73
Anjani Kumar Sinha
References	84
English in India's Multilingual Ecology: Present-Day Use, Users and Usage	85
S. N. Sridhar and Kamal K. Sridhar
1 Introduction	85
2 The Multilingual Ecology of India	86
2.1 Linguistic Diversity of India	87
2.2 Changing Patterns of Bilingualism	88
3 Uses of English in India	88
3.1 Education	89
3.2 Administration	90
3.3 Judiciary	91
3.4 Legislature	91
3.5 Interstate Link Language	91
3.6 Media	92
3.7 Commerce	93
3.8 Advertising	93
3.9 Literature	93
3.10 International Communication	94
3.11 Religion and Spirituality	94
3.12 Transportation	94
3.13 Home Domain	94
4 Users of English in India	95
4.1 Variation in the Use of English	95
5 Usage: How English is Used in India	97
5.1 Indian English in the Unilingual Mode	97
5.2 Indian English in the Mixed or Multilingual Mode	100
6 Summary and Implications	102
References	103
Great Andamanese the Sixth Language Family of India: An Inquiry into the Possible Human Language	107
Anvita Abbi
1 About the Great Andamanese	107
2 About the Great Andamanese Language	108
3 Is Great Andamanese Similar to Other Negrito Tribes of Andaman?	110
4 A Word About the Topography of the Islands	111
5 The World of Great Andamanese: Cultural and Environmental	112
6 The Nature of the Language and the Loss of Narrative Ability	112
7 What Does the Oral Tradition Symbolize?	113
8 The Concept of Space	113
9 The Concept of Time	113

10	Great Andamanese Comprehend Life in Some Sort of Hierarchy	114
11	Empirical Classification of the Names of the Great Andamanese Birds	115
11.1	Ethno-Ornithological Descriptions	115
12	The Naming of a Person	117
13	The Naming of a Location	117
14	The Great Loss of Knowledgebase	118
15	The Grammar of the PGA	118
15.1	Typology	118
15.2	The Sound System	119
15.3	The Concept of Inalienability and Inherency	120
15.4	The Basic Seven Divisions of Body and Proclitics	121
15.5	Possession and Genitive	121
15.6	Structuration of the Language	122
16	To Conclude the Discussion	125
	References	126
	Case and Lexical Categories in Dravidian	129
	K. A. Jayaseelan
1	Introduction: The Importance of Destabilizing Received Knowledge	129
2	Case: The Traditional Notions and Some New Ideas	129
3	Lexical Categories: How They Are Generated in Grammar	130
4	The Dative Case in Dravidian: How It 'Travels'	131
5	Adjective as a Derived Category	133
5.1	The Distributional Evidence: The Dative Subject Construction	134
5.2	The Morphological Evidence	136
5.3	Case Movement and Case Absorption	136
6	Verb as a Derived Category	137
6.1	The Dative Case in the Malayalam Verb	137
6.2	Adjective and Verb: What is the Difference?	138
7	The Dative Subject/Nominative Subject Alternation in Dravidian	138
7.1	Case Alternation on the Subject	138
7.2	The Nominative Subject	139
8	Sentences with Transitive and Ditransitive Verbs	139
9	Conclusion	140
	References	141
	Linguistic and Mental Landscaping in India: Reach and Impact	143
	Tej K. Bhatia
1	Introduction	143
2	Definition, Terms and Methodology	145
2.1	Methodology: Data and Selection	145
3	Multiple Diversity: Market and Communicative Environment	146
4	Wall Advertising: Ad-Internal Structure, Typology and Languages	152

5	Globalization: Two Views and Underlying Strategies	154
5.1	Think Global and Act Global	154
5.2	Think Local and Act Local	155
5.3	Social/Developmental and Service Campaigns	155
5.4	Globalization and Adaptation: Bridging the Gap	158
5.5	Patterns of Commercial Discourse	159
6	Ecological and Other Issues	160
7	Conclusions	162
	References	163
	Understanding Quasiregularity and Continua in Language: Beyond “Words and Rules”	165
	Catherine L. Caldwell-Harris
1	Introduction	165
2	Quasiregularities in the English Past-Tense	166
3	English Orthography: Regulars Plus Exceptions, or Quasiregularity?	169
4	Summary and Preview	171
4.1	The Continuum of Context Dependence and Non-compositionality of Meaning	172
4.2	Discussion	174
4.3	Objections and Qualifications: Can Connectionist Networks Learn Rules?	174
5	Linguistic Questions and Predictions	175
6	Why Has the “Word and Rules” Perspective Remained Dominant?	176
7	Future Research	177
7.1	Investigating Language Continua as Distribution	177
7.2	Integrating History and Communication into Explaining Quasiregularity	177
	References	178
	Mistakes We Make and Do not Make When We Learn Language	183
	R. Amritavalli
1	Introduction	183
2	Scrambling and Its Acquisition	184
3	Scrambling in Child Tamil	186
4	A Preverbal Focus Position	188
5	A Post-verbal Topic Position	189
6	A Prediction that Stands Confirmed About Scrambling a Wh-Word	191
7	Children Do Make Creative Errors	194
8	Errors and Grammatical Conservatism	196
9	Conclusion	197
	References	197

Natural Language Processing Meets Deep Learning	199
Pushpak Bhattacharyya
1 Introduction: Nature of NLP/CL	199
2 NLP and Machine Learning (ML)	200
3 Language Modeling and Word Embedding	202
4 Importance of “Features”	202
5 Cognitive NLP	203
6 Text Classification	205
7 Basic Neural Network Models	206
8 NLP as Sequence Processing	210
9 NLP Meets DNN: An Example Application	210
10 Summary, Conclusion, Future Work	212
References	213
Language Evolution: Theories and Evidence	215
Pritha Chandra
1 Introducing a Hard Problem	215
2 Language—The Object and Its Nature	216
3 Evolutionary Accounts	219
3.1 The Gestural Origins	219
3.2 Language as Adaptation	221
3.3 Language as Exaptation	223
4 The Evidence or the Lack of It?	225
4.1 Paleontological and Genetic Evidence	225
4.2 Archeological Evidence	227
4.3 Comparative Animal Behavior Studies	228
5 Conclusion	230
References	231
A Grammar of Endangerment	235
Udaya Narayana Singh
1 Preliminary Remarks: Where Lies the Danger?	235
2 Endangerment and Linguistic Identities	236
3 Endangerment and Language Surveys	238
4 Endangerment, Othering and Assumptions	241
5 The Social Grammar of Endangerment	243
6 Concluding Remarks	245
References	246
Engaging with a Classical Text from a Linguistic Perspective:
A Study of “Bad Language” in Sarala Mahabharata	249
B. N. Patnaik
1 Bad Language: An Explication	250
2 Bad Language in Sarala Mahabharata : An Analysis	255
Notes	263
References	263

Structure of Language in Multilingual Settings: Some Issues	265
Shreesh Chaudhary
1 Introduction	265
2 Multilingual Discourse	268
3 Discussion	276
4 Least Expansion Hypothesis	279
5 Multilingual Person's Knowledge of Language: Rules	280
6 Concluding Remarks	280
References	281
The Politics of Language: Politics by Another Name	283
Arvind Sivaramakrishnan
References	300
Language Documentation: Issues and Challenges of Field-Worker	303
S. Imtiaz Hasnain and Farooq Ahmad Mir
1 Introduction	303
2 Situating the Issues of Language Documentation	305
3 Anthropocene: Assertion of Agency by Humans	306
4 'Positioning': Dualism of Conscious Action and Unselfconscious Motivation	307
5 Terminological Conundrums—Some Reflections	308
6 Researcher as Explorer and Explainer	311
7 Problems of Identity in Singularity	312
8 Communicative Events in Documentation: Reaffirming the Agency in and Through Language	314
9 Conclusion	317
References	318
Marathi Relative and Complement Clauses in Nominalization Perspective	321
Prashant Pardeshi and Masayoshi (Matt) Shibatani
1 Introduction	322
2 Previous Works	323
3 The Formal Characteristics of the Modification Structure	325
3.1 Outline of Shibatani's Theory of Nominalization	327
3.2 Re-appraisal of Noun Modification in Marathi	330
4 Conclusion: Clause, Sentence and Nominalization	349
References	351
Language of Religion: What Does It Inform the Field of Linguistics? ...	353
Rajeshwari V. Pandharipande
1 Introduction	353
2 Contribution of Language of Religion to Language Analysis (Grammars)	355
3 The Problematic of Language of Religion in Philosophy: Problems as Pointers	357

4	Sociolinguistic Approaches to Language of Religion and their Inadequacy	360
5	A Proposal: An Important Contribution of LR to the Study of Language	364
6	A Parameter for Differentiating Registers: Registers Can Vary in Their Underlying, 'Conceptual Reality' and the System of Its Signification	366
7	Implications of the Proposal: Religious and Non-language (Language: Toward a Theory of Di-system)	367
	References	370