

CONTENTS

1	A Puzzle from the Field	1
	People's Agency and Violent Conflict Research	4
	The Lalgarh Movement in Janglemahal	6
	Theoretical and Methodological Approach	11
	An Everyday Approach to Violent Conflict and Peace	12
	Methods of Data Collection and Analysis	12
	Key Insights and Contributions	13
	Content of the Book	15
2	Local People in the Civil Wars Literature	17
	Introduction	17
	Poverty and Violent Conflict	19
	Revolutions	21
	New Wars	23
	The Problem of Measuring Greed and Grievance	26
	The Security-Development Nexus	29
	Violent Conflict and the Everyday	31
	Violent Conflict, Meaning, and Social Context	32
	Micro-Level Conflict	35
	The Everyday	37
	Everyday Peace and Everyday Resistance	42
	Conclusion	46

3	Maoism in India	49
	The Myth of Naxalbari	50
	Naxalism in Bihar	55
	Maoism Today: The 'Biggest Threat to India's Internal Security'	59
	The Construction of Marginalised Groups in the Literature	65
	Conclusion	69
4	An Everyday Approach to Conflict and Peace	71
	Conflict, Peace, and the Everyday	72
	A Cup of Tea	72
	The Everyday	75
	Discourse, Narratives, and the Everyday	76
	An Ontology of Violent Conflict	79
	Structures and Agency	80
	Discourse, Power, and Conflict	83
	Power, Violence, and Resistance	83
	Subalternity and Representation	85
	Poverty Seen from the West	88
	Experiencing the Field	90
	Fieldwork Encounters	91
	Relationships and Veracity	94
	Fieldwork as a Gendered Experience	97
	Conducting Fieldwork in a Post-Conflict Environment: Risks, Challenges, and Ethics	98
	Conclusions	101
5	The Lalgarh Movement in Junglemahal: Comparing the Narratives	103
	The Origins of the Lalgarh Movement	105
	Constructing the 'Tribal' Uprising	107
	Land, Forests, Minerals and Violence	114
	Politics, State Violence, and the Maoists	118
	From the Movement to Violent Conflict	122
	The Formation of the PCPA: Whose Movement?	122
	Narratives of Peaceful Resistance and Narratives of Violence	124
	Peak and Decline of Violence	128
	Conclusion	132

6	Experiencing Conflict	135
	Introduction	135
	Injured Bodies and Discourse	136
	Local people's Understanding of Violence	140
	Everyday Embodied Experiences	145
	Emotions	147
	Fear	149
	Grievance	150
	Emotions and Social Relationships	152
	Anger	154
	The Impact of Conflict on Local people's Socio-Economic Conditions	156
	Gendered Experiences	160
	Conclusion	164
7	Responding to Conflict	165
	Introduction	165
	Exit	167
	Participation	169
	Fighting for the Maoists	171
	Ordinary people's Participation	177
	Everyday Peace and Community Solidarity	186
	Voice	191
	Forms of Voice and Resistance	192
	Local people's Explanations of Resistance	199
	Conclusion	201
8	Perspectives on Peace, Change, and Development	203
	Introduction	203
	Peace and Development in the Discourse of the State	204
	Paternalism and Development	208
	Grievance in Local People's Discourses	211
	The Narrative of Extreme Poverty and Starvation	212
	The Narrative of Corruption	214
	Power Relationships and Everyday Violence	219
	Peace in Local people's Discourses	224
	Peace as Culture	225
	Peace as Experience	228
	Peace as Change	230
	Conclusion	234

9 Conclusion: The Extraordinary of the Ordinary in Times of Violence

Introduction

Integrating Everyday Conflict, Everyday Peace, and Everyday Resistance: Emerging Areas in Peace and Conflict Studies

The Social Construction of Grievance

The Role of Local People's Action in Conflict, Peace, and Resistance

The Social Capital for Everyday Peace

The Role of the Family and Inter-Generation Relationships

Discursive Resistance to Violent Structures of Power

Limits of the Research and Future Research Agendas

Making an Impact with Peace Research

Concluding Remarks: The Everyday and Social Capital for Peace

Bibliography

Index