

Contents

Note on Translations	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Abstract	1
Keywords	1
Introduction: Questioning the Sublime and Standing before a Waterfall	1
1 Locating the Sublime in the Euro-American Context	13
1.1 Establishing a Roadmap for the Sublime	13
1.2 Longinus, the Middle Ages, and Renaissance: Origin and Hibernation	14
1.3 The Eighteenth Century: the Golden Age of the Sublime	16
1.4 The Nineteenth Century: the Eclipse of the Sublime	24
1.5 The Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries: a Sublime Revival	27
1.6 Summary	31
2 Sustaining Depth: Critiquing the Sublime with Theological Aesthetics	32
2.1 Question: Sublime vs. Beauty?	33
2.2 Answer: a Peaceful Beautiful-Sublime via the Analogy of Being	37
2.3 Sustaining Depth with Hiroshi Senju	42
3 Preserving Particularity: Critiquing the Sublime with Environmental Aesthetics	47
3.1 Environmental Aesthetic Perspectives on the Relation of Nature and Art	49
3.2 The Sublime in Nature and/or Art? Kant as a Touchstone	52
3.3 Recovering a Sublime That Links Nature and Art through Engagement	56
3.3.1 Bodily Engagement	56
3.3.2 Imaginative Engagement	57
3.3.3 Affective Engagement	59
3.4 Preserving Particularity with Hiroshi Senju	61
4 Cultivating Participation: Critiquing the Sublime with Critical Theory	66
4.1 Feminist Critiques	66
4.2 Racial Critiques	72
4.3 Political Critiques	76
4.4 Technological Critiques	83
4.5 Cultivating Participation with Hiroshi Senju	85
Conclusion: toward an Everyday Sublime	90
Bibliography	97