

Contents

List of contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
1 Artificial intelligence and international conflict in cyberspace: exploring three sets of issues	1
FABIO CRISTIANO, DENNIS BROEDERS, FRANÇOIS DELERUE, FRÉDÉRIK DOUZET AND AUDE GÉRY
PART I
Technical and operational challenges	17
2 The unknowable conflict: tracing AI, recognition, and the death of the (human) loop	19
ANDREW C. DWYER
3 Artificial intelligence in hybrid and information warfare: a double-edged sword	47
WESLEY R. MOY AND KACPER T. GRADON
PART II
Strategic and geopolitical challenges	75
4 Algorithmic power? the role of artificial intelligence in European strategic autonomy	77
SIMONA R. SOARE
5 The middleware dilemma of middle powers: AI-enabled services as sites of cyber conflict in Brazil, India, and Singapore	109
ARUN MOHAN SUKUMAR

- 6 Artificial intelligence and military superiority: how the ‘cyber-AI offensive-defensive arms race’ affects the US vision of the fully integrated battlefield 135
JEPPE T. JACOBSEN AND TOBIAS LIEBETRAU

PART III

Normative and legal challenges 157

- 7 Ethical principles for artificial intelligence in the defence domain 159

MARIAROSARIA TADDEO, DAVID McNEISH,
ALEXANDER BLANCHARD AND ELIZABETH EDGAR

- 8 Is Stuxnet the next Skynet? Autonomous cyber capabilities as lethal autonomous weapons systems 186

LOUIS PEREZ

- 9 Advanced artificial intelligence techniques and the principle of non-intervention in the context of electoral interference: a challenge to the “demanding” element of coercion? 223

JACK KENNY

Index 259