

Contents

Preface

Approaches to Natural Law in East-Central Europe VII

Gábor Gángó and Knud Haakonssen

Notes on Contributors XVI

PART 1

Poland-Lithuania

- 1 Natural Law in Polish and Lithuanian Sources:
A Comparative Perspective 3
Steffen Huber
- 2 The Influence of Natural Law on the Discourse of Toleration in Seventeenth-Century Poland-Lithuania 35
Karin Friedrich
- 3 Why Was the Political Discourse of the Polish-Lithuanian Nobility so
Weakly Influenced by Natural Law? 66
Anna Grześkowiak-Krwawicz
- 4 Ernst König and the Teaching of Natural Law at the Academic Gymnasia of Royal Prussia 87
Gábor Gángó

PART 2

The Austrian Empire

- 5 Natural Law in Austrian and Hungarian Science of Public Law in the Second Half of the Eighteenth Century: A Comparison 135
Martin P. Schennach
- 6 The Chair of Natural Law in Prague (1748–1775) 164
Ivo Cerman

PART 3

Hungary and Transylvania

- 7 The Dream of Freedom, Peace and Order
Natural and Divine Law in the Works of a Unitarian Bishop from Sixteenth-Century Transylvania 191
Borbála Lovas
- 8 Protestant Schooling and Natural Law in Transylvania and Hungary 224
Péter Balázs and Gábor Gángó
- 9 Moral Indifference and Hypothetical Moral Necessity in Miklós Apáti's
Vita triumphans civilis (1688) 276
József Simon
- 10 Political Psychology and Natural Law in Miklós Bethlen's Preface to His Autobiography (1708) 304
József Simon

PART 4

Russia

- 11 Strube de Piermont: The Passionate Natural Law in Russia 337
Ivo Cerman
- Index of Persons 371
Index of Places 387
Index of Subjects 391