

Contents

List of contributors	iv	[8] The material and the immaterial: Saint Jerome in his Study Dagmar Eichberger	87
Lenders to the exhibition	iv
Foreword	v	[9] Albrecht Dürer's Landscape with a Cannon of 1518: the matter of etching Edward H. Wouk	99
Acknowledgements	vi
[1] Introducing Albrecht Dürer's material world Jennifer Spinks and Edward H. Wouk	1	[10] Albrecht Dürer's armour Larry Silver	113
Catalogue numbers 1-6	7	[11] The Whitworth's sculpted Pietà from Renaissance Germany Holly Fletcher	121
Catalogue compiled by Danielle Gravon and Edward H. Wouk		Catalogue numbers 7-9	126
[2] The Thomas D. Barlow collection: A fait accompli Imogen Holmes-Roe	15	[12] The home Sasha Handley and Charles Zika	131
[3] Perilous possessions: Kachelöfen in Renaissance Nuremberg Sasha Handley	23	Catalogue numbers 10-33	136
[4] Objects in motion: Albrecht Dürer's Nemesis Jennifer Spinks	35	[13] The workshop Stefan Hanß, Jennifer Spinks and Edward H. Wouk	151
[5] The nature of lines: enviromateriality and ingenuity in Albrecht Dürer's material world Stefan Hanß	49	Catalogue numbers 34-70	155
[6] Objects of devotion and instruments of memorialisation: The Mass of Saint Gregory Charles Zika	63	[14] The study Edward H. Wouk and Dagmar Eichberger	175
[7] Measure and the material world of Albrecht Dürer's Melencolia I Matthew S. Champion	75	Catalogue numbers 71-104	179
		Publications cited	201
		Index	212