

Contents

	Preface	vii
	Hadrian Lankiewicz
1	Building translation sub-competences of foreign language students in telecollaboration	1
	Małgorzata Godlewska
2	How does language become a skill? Analysing languaging in a problem-solving activity using a multimodal methodological framework	35
	Grzegorz Grzegorzczyk
3	Integrating duoethnography with ethnolinguistics in an endeavour to reconstruct the profiles of education in the discourse of third-year students of applied linguistics: A case study	80
	Magdalena Grabowska
4	The four perspectives model for psychological/psychiatric case formulations in analysing the discourse of clinical-diagnostic case reporting	105
	Magdalena Zabielska
5	The application of projective techniques to render linguistic repertoires of plurilingual language learners at the tertiary level	130
	Emilia Wąsikiewicz-Firlej
6	Deconstructing ethnic insults by means of dual character concepts: Finding evidence of newly emerging contemptuous meanings with recourse to philosophical concepts and corpus linguistics	172
	Anna Szczepaniak-Kozak
7	Focus group interview in the ecological perspective on language study: An insight into critical language awareness of L2 users with regard to translingual practices of plurilinguals	208
	Hadrian Aleksander Lankiewicz
	Index	251